A Stalwart Speech by Mr. McLachlan.

Sectarian Institutions Should not Get Public Pap.

The Indian-school Appropriation is Squelched.

Members Who Voted Against Cath olic Schools Accused of Being Members of the A.P.A.—A Decided Stir.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(Special Dispatch.) The defeat of the appropriation for the education of Indians at the Catholic schools has created a decided stir. The reason for this is that all members who voted against the appro-priation, constituting a large majority, are accused of being controlled by the American Protective Association, some members of which do not appear adverse sympathy of the majority in the House and reiterating the old charge that a majority of government officials and employés are Catholics, and calling for

The fact is, the A.P.A. question did not enter into it at all, and the effort to create political capital along secta-rian lines will fail. The movement is rian lines will fail. The movement is against such appropriations for all sects, and was presented with decided clearness and ability by Representative McLachian, it being his maiden speech. There were four other speeches, but none that commanded closer attention that that of Mr. McLachian, He spoke in a clear, ringing voice that could easily be heard by all, and made a good impression. Mr. McLachlan said, in part, as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, when the District Appropriation Bill was before the House the other day for discussion, I was surprised to learn that this government.

was surprised to learn that this gov-ernment had been in the habit of mak-ing large appropriations to institu-tions controlled by various sectarian tions controlled by various sectarian denominations. I voted then to strike from that bill every appropriation to a sectarian institution of any kind, including one to the Protestant denomination, of which I have the honor of being a member. I have the satisfaction now of knowing that I acted then not only according to my own convictions of right, but that I have the approval of my constituents in so the approval of my constituents in

"For the same reason that I oppose that bill, I am opposed to the pro-visions of this bill as reported by the Committee on Indian Affairs, appropri-ting more than a quarter of a million of dollars to the Indian schools under the special management and control of the sectarian denominations noney to be expended by the govenment in its own schools for the educa-tion of these Indian children. To make the appropriation recommended by the committee would, in my judg ment, be an unwarrantable disposition of the public funds, a gross violation of the Constitution and diametrically opposed to the fundamental principles

"Personally, I make no war upon the religion of any man. On the contrary, I join with all good American citizens in strenuously contending for the prinple that accords to every man, woman and child the right to worship God according to the dictates of his or her own conscience, but I contend no less earnestly for the principle that in this government of ours there must ever be complete separation of church and state. That this principle has often peen violated in the past by appropriations similar to the one now sought to be passed by this Congress is no argument why it should be again violated, though the custom has even grown venerable with age. The pages of history are darkened by the records of fatal results of just such legislation as that proposed by this bill, and the same pages abound in a warning to all nations of the earth to sacredly avoid all legislation for the special benefit of any ect or denomination.

"Even in these latter days, the ominous warning comes from the neighbor-ing Dominion of Canada, now threat-ened with war and disruption because of the formidable effort of the general government to compel the province of Manitoba to set aside a portion of the public revenue for the benefit of a sec-tarian school. My ancestors, centuries ago, gave up their lives among the rugged hills of old Scotland, fighting for civil and religious liberty, and the absolute separation of church and state and their descendants have never wa ered to this hour in their loyalty to "As a descendant of that race, with a right to be heard in this legislature of the greatest government ever framed by man, I cannot refrain from raising my voice in protest against the un-American legislation proposed by this bill as it comes from the committee, and urging you, my countrymen to support the thoroughly American amendment proposed by the gentleman from Michigan."

Claussen entered Foley's house with a pistol in his hand and told his wife that he was going to shoot her, but she begged for her life and he put the pistol in his pocket and started to leave the room, but had hardly reached the door when he pulled the weapon from his pocket and, rushing at his wife, fired three shots, two of which entered the body near the heart and the third striking her in the arm. She died immediately. Claussen was taken into custody. The murdered woman was the mother of three boys and was very comely.

WILD-EYED DESPERADOES

THEY MAKE AN ASSAULT ON THE WICHITA FALLS BANK.

Book-keeper Langford Wounded The Assailants Surrounded in Thicket—An Arkansas Episode.

WICHITA FALLS (Tex.) Feb. 25. Two robbers entered the City National Bank of this city at 2:45 o'clock this of Cashier Dorsey, who resisted them. Shooting began, resulting in the death of Cashier Frank Dorsey and the wounding of Book-keeper P. P. Langford. Langford's wounds are not serious, being slight flesh wounds.

The robbers secured only a few hundred dollars in silver. They then mounted their horses and made a run mounted their horses and made a run for their lives. By this time many of the citizens had armed themselves and a small battle took place. One of the robbers' horses was shot from under him and the robber was wounded. He mounted behind his partner, and about one mile from town met a farmer in a bugy. They took his horses and made a break for the hills. In the mean time the citizens had secured horses and began the pursuit, the leaders following within a quarter of a mile of the outlaws. The Panhandle and City National Banks immediately offered a reward of $1000 for their capture, dead or alive.

The latest reports are that the rob-or alive.

The latest reports are that the robbers are corralled in a large thicket in the midst of a pasture nine miles from town. The thicket is surrounded by twenty-five or thirty determined men, who are fully armed, and escape is almost impossible. They have sent in for twenty-five additional men, who have just started. Foster Crawford, one of the robbers, who killed Cashier Dorsey, is said to be a noted desperado. It is also reported that one of the famous Christian brothers was the other man.

ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY. LITTLE ROCK, (Ark.,) Feb. 25 .- A pecial to the Gazette from Warrer rk., says that a daring but unsuccess special to the Gazette from Warren, Ark., says that a daring but unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the Merchants' and Planters' Bank at that place today. About 3:30 o'clock three men entered the bank and two of them walked around behind the inclosure, where Adair, the cashier, was seated in conversation with T. M. Goodwin and D. W. Sutton. Their first salutation was "Hold up your hands." Adair sprang for his pistol. when the men commenced shooting, and Goodwin received what is thought to be a mortal wound, and Adair was shot through the shoulder. He returned the fire, and evidently wounded one of the men, as when he rode off he was seen to be bleeding. The firing of the pistols startled the citizens, who came running from all directions, and the robbers were forced to retire without accomplishing their object. As they rode out of town they kept up a fusilade of shots. The plans were well laid, and no doubt the bank would have been looted but for the promptness of Adair with his pistol.

ioted but for the promptness of Adair with his pistol.
Goodwin is in a critical condition. Adair's wound is a very painful one, but not necessarily fatal. Several citizens had narrow escapes from the flying bullets, and the interior is perforated with bullet holes.

FRESNO, Feb. 25.—Jacob Hocken-berry, who last campaign furnished money to assist George W. Smith in noney to assist George W. Smith in its fight for Sheriff on the Democratic his fight for Shediff on the Democratic ticket, has brought suit to recover the money. Smith refuses to repay it, claiming it was a gift made with the understanding that, if he were elected, he would appoint Hockenberry deputy. Hockenberry says he expected to be appointed deputy and also to have the money repaid, and, since Smith was not elected and could not fulfill the part of the contract relating to the deputyship, he should pay back the money.

That of the Majority Censures

Over the Tariff Bill-Senator Morgan's Resolution is Defeated-Cuba.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Chairman Hitt of the Foreign Affairs Committee, today reported to the House the preamble and resolutions agreed on by the Foreign Affairs Committee censur-ing Ambassador Bayard for portions of speeches he delivered at Edinburgh and Boston, accompanying the pre-amble and resolutions in a brief re-port, which sets forth that Mr. Bayard did make the speeches containing the features alluded to as objectionable, and saying that no action had been taken by the government thereon. The preamble contains extracts of speeches which brought forth the resolutions in the House, and they are followed by the following resolution, recommended

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the House that Thomas F. Bayard, ambassador to England, in publicly using the language above quoted, has committed an offense against diplo-matic propriety and an abuse of privi-leges of his exalted position, which should make him the representative of the whole country and not of any po-litical party. Such utterances are wholly inconsistent with that prudent, delicate and scrupulous reserve which he himself, while Secretary of State, enjoined upon all diplomatic agents of the United States. In one speech he offends a great body of his countryoffends a great body of his countrymen, who believe in the policy of protection. In the other he offends all his countrymen, who believe that Americans are capable of self government. Therefore, as the immediate representatives of the American people, we condemn and censure said utterances of the Hon. T. F. Bayard.

"Resolved, further, that in the opinion of the House of Representatives, public speeches by our diplomatic or consular officers abroad, which display partisanship or which condemn any political party or party policies or organization of citizens in the United States, are in dereliction of duty of such officers, impair the usefulness as public servants and diminish the confidence which they should always command at home and abroad."

A minority report containing the views of the members of the committee opposed to the resolution will also be presented.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—SENATE. After the Senate had disposed of much Senator Morrill chairman of the Finance Committee form of a resolution to take up the Tariff Bill. He began with a brief statement as to the complications on the Tariff Bill.

He said it had been apparent for many months there has been a defi-ciency in the revenues. During every month since the present Tariff Bill went into effect there had been a de-

"How was it before?" interjected

"How was it before?" Interjected Senator Cockrell.

Senator Morrill went on to state that the deficiency up to this time reached $20,000,000. If we went on at the same rate the deficiency would be $30,000,000 for the year. It was certainly manifest that Congress should do something to relieve the treasury and assist in the revival of business. Therefore he moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the Tariff Bill. The roll-call proceeded with many interruptions in order to allow Senators to pair. The announcement that Senator Morrill's motion had been defeated, yeas 22, nays 33, was not unexpected, in view of the vote some days ago.

The vote on Senator Morrill's motion to take up the Tariff Bill was as follows:

Yeas—Republican, Senators Aldrich, Allison, Baker, Brown, Burrows, Cameron, Clark, Cullom, Davis, Gear, Hale, Hansbrough, Hawley, Lodge, Mitchell of Oregon, Morrill, Nelson, Perkins, Proctor, Quay, Sherman, Shoup—22.
Nays—Republicans, Senators Cannon, Carter, Dubois, Mantle, Teller; Democrats, Bacon, Bate, Berry, Caffery, Call, Chilton, Cockrell, George, Gray, Gordon, Harris, Hill, Lindsar, Martin, Morgan, Palmer, Pasco, Roach, Turpie, Vest, Waltham, White, 22; Populists, Allen, Butler, Jones of Nevada, Kyle, Peffer and Stewart, 6.

The purs were as follows, the names of those who would have voted aye being given first: Senators Chandler with Murphy, McBride with Smith, Hoar with Pugh, Warren with Jones of Arkansas, Wilson with Irby, McMillin with Blackburn, Pritchard with Blanchard, Wetmore with Voorhees, Pettigrew with Gibson, Frye with Gorman, Squire with Daniels, Wolcott with Brice, Platt with Vilas, Eikins with Faulkner. Sewell with Mitchell of Wisconsin, Thurston with Tilman.

The announcement of the vote was a signal for a remarkable colloquy between Senator Morrill and Senator Teller. As soon as the vote was announced, Senator Morrill again addressed the Senate.

It was now evident, he said, that the Republican party was in the minority in the United States Senate. A chorus of derisive laughter came from the Democratic side of the chamber at this statement. lows: Yeas-Republican, Senators Aldrich, Allison, Baker, Brown, Burrows, Cam-

BAYARD'S JAW

"But as to this bill," concluded Senator Morrill, "I do not think it would become me to ask any further time."

Senator Teller secured recognition as soon as Senator Morrill concluded.

Senator Teller. The Senator from Vermont (Mr. Morrill) states what everybody has known to be a fact, that there is not a Republican majority in this Senate, if those who have voted against the motion to take up this measure, made out of time and unseemly, who sit on this side of the chamber, are in the party whom the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think are not.

"There is a motion here made by the Senator seems to think who is the senator from Wermoni, to recommit this bill for defects in the bill, patent and apparent defects—defects—defects which everybody who has read and examined it concedes.

"Mr. President, I charge here, and concedes.

"Mr. President, I charge here, and I shall undertake to make the charge good before this debate is over, that this bill was never introduced in either body or has it been supported in this body with any reference to its becoming a law. Of that I shall speak at another time. If the Senator from Vermont thinks he can embarrass us who have stood by the Republican party as long as he has and zealously as he has, because we do not agree with him upon every subject, he is entirely mistaken."

Mr. Morrill. I have read no man out

Mr. Morrill. I have read no man out of the Republican party, but I allude to the fact that there are eighty-nine Senators in this body, of which the Republican party has forty-four only who calm to be Republicans. Of course, we are in the minority.

Mr. Teller. Of course, we knew that before. The suggestion is that we who have not voted to take up this bill are not Republicans. For thirty days the great Republican metropolitan press has read out of that party enough of the members to make it in the minority, if it had heretofore a majority here. Every man who voted for the free coinage of silver amendment to the Bond Bill, no matter what was his motive for voting for it, whether he motive for voting for it, whether he was a free-coinage man and anxious was a free-coinage man and anxious to promote that purpose and that end, or whether he was against the bill, has been read out of the Republican party by the Republican press. He continued:

mas been read out of the Republican party by the Republican press. He continued:

"At the proper time I am prepared to show that the great metropolitan Republican press has deciared that eighteen members of this body are not worthy to be called Republicans and we have been notified that unless we change our views upon financial questions and submit to the Cleveland Democracy and Morrill Republicanism of this financial question in this country we must go out of the party.

"Mr. President, we can get along without the party as well as the party can get along without us. But we deny the right of either the newspapers or members of the Committee on Finance to read us out of the party. We shall stay in the party until we get ready to go out, and we shall discuss these questions that are now so important, not from a partisan standpoint, but from the standpoint of an American Senator charged with great interests, charged with doing that which the Senate has shown itself incompetent to do, and nobody more incompetent than the men who voted for the gold proposition of this administration, charged to bring to this country prosperity, which has been denied to it under our legislation now for twenty years, charged to devise some system that shall satisfy the people that we can enter upon that degree of prosperity to which we are entitled by reason of advantages which exist in this country. I wish to enter my protest and to say that I am not to be frightened by the sneers of the chairman of the committee nor by the attacks of the press. I shall do what I think is my duty to do here, regardless of consequences, and it seems to me that it would be in better faste and more in accordance with the dignity of the Senate if we should hear less here and elsewhere about our parand more in accordance with the dig-nity of the Senate if we should hear nity of the Senate if we should near less here and elsewhere about our par-tisan duty."

Senator Sherman of Ohio followed Senator Teller and said:
"Mr. President: As a member of the Committee on Finance, I disclaim all partisan feeling in respect to the bill which the Senator from Vermont moves to bring before the Senate. That which the Senate from verification moves to bring before the Senate. That bill does not belong to any party; it is not the representative of any party. The only merit to the bill is that it proposes to furnish $40,000,000 of revenue for the support of the government, enough to meet the current expenses of the government. It is a bill prepared for an occasion, not a political one. I say now, Mr. President, I shall vote for any tax whatever which may be proposed by anybody, whether Democrat, Populist or Republican, which shall supply sufficient revenue for the support of the government.

"It is a disgrace to our civilization; it is a disgrace to the country itself that we are now expending $20,000,000 a year more than the receipts of the government, and that the Congress now in session, with both houses fully armed with the power to furnish the revenue, is idle and refuses to act.

"I will vote for a tax on tea, on coffee, on anything, in order to meet the deficiency, and I say that if the present

"I will vote for a tax on tea, on coffee, on anything, in order to meet the deficiency, and I say that if the present Congress does not adjourn in the face of the declarations now made to us, of the official reports sent to us, of the statements by the President of the United States and of the Secretary of the Treasury, that we are now going on day by day like a careless spend-thrift to involve the country in debt, selling bonds when it is the duty of Congress at once to supply the reve-

Senator Peffer. I thought so.
Senator Sherman. Every man within the sound of my voice knows that we need more revenue. There is a statement showing that since the last day of July and up to the present month of February, 1896, there has already been a deficiency in the current revenue of $20,696,000, and that before the end of the fiscal year, at the same ratio, the amount of deficiency will be $30,000,000, If such a condition should occur in Great Pritain or any other country where they have a parliamentary law, it would dethrone any party in power and an immediate effort would be made to increase the income tax, or to provide some other form of taxation to meet the current expenses. Yet now, and every day, and every hour, since the passage of the present law, and even before, in view of its passage, we have been running in debt and increasing our debts. There is no occasion for it. He continued:

"A tax on tea and coffee would be paid cheerfully by the people of the United States. Any tax whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be supported by the people of the United States. Any tax whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be supported by the people of the United States. Any tax whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be supported by the people of the United States. Any tax whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be followed by the people of the United States. As yet as whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be printed by the people of the United States. As yet as whatever, the most obnoxious that could be collected, would be printed by the people of the United States and coffee would be united States. The reason is such as a such coffee would be paid cheerfully by the people of the United States. The reason is such as a such coffee would be paid cheerfully by the people of the United States. "Sir, I have not one word to say about the Populists: I have not one word to say to wound my friend, the Senator from Colorado (Mr. Teller) or any one else. I do not wish to arraign any individual, but what I do is to appeal to the Senate of the United States. The other House-having sent us ever so faulty a bill, let us take it up, and if it is not right, let us make it right and send it back to the House, and we will have a ready concurrence. But for us to adjourn with these deficiencies accruing more and more is, as I say, not a manly action to be taken by either of the great parties or by any party that is responsible for it. Any private citizen who would pursue such a course in his financial affairs, however rich he might be, would soon lose his credit, and his reputation for solvency and good sense. There is no poverty in this country, no unwillinglose his credit, and his reputation for solvency and good sense. There is no poverty in this country, no unwillingness to pay taxes, no reason why taxes should not be levied, and if the taxes proposed by the bill are not right, let us, in the name of heaven, provide others. It is sufficient for us to know that our duty is not yet performed, and if the Senator from Vermont does not, I will at the proper time, and under proper circumstances, move to make up a bill and then see what the defects are.

But in the House of Representatives the people are represented according to their numbers in every portion of the United States. Let me prophesy to my honorable friend that his remedy will never be so strong in the future as it has been in the past. In my judgment, the sober conviction of the people of the United States will settle down in favor of having the best standard that can be found or that is yet known as the standard of value, with ample paper money, always maintained at par with gold, to circulate in all parts of the country, freely and without danger of its breaking up.

He predicted that the silver Republicans would find the tide running so, strong for protection in their localities that they would not be able to stem it. Senator Frye spoke briefly, salying that it must be seen by all that the Tariff Bill was as dead as Julius Caesar, and that there was no resurrection for five the business men of the country with to mow this was no resurrection for five the business men of the country with the country of the business men of the country with the country of the providence, and the tide responsibility for its fate rest that they would not be able to stem it. The Senator closed at 3:30 o'clock and was followed by Senator Gray of Delaware.

Senator Gray spoke of the forbearance the United States had long shown toward Spanish rule over Cuba, which was a constant source of irritation. He could not stifle the feelings aroused by the sad condition and the suffering of the Cuban people. The Senator said the resolution of belligerency did not involve any affront to Spain. The latter country had recognized the Southern Confederacy, yet that had not interrupted the amicable relations between the United States and Spain. How long was the United States to close its eyes and its heart to the oppression of Spain in Cuba? How could we refrain from giving some expression of American feeling of sympathy with Cuba! The present unnatural condition could not last long. Spain could continue her control of Cuba only by respecting the rights and liberties of the Cuban people, that peace and prosperity shall prevall or else she must cease to govern them. Our pulses will we upheld. But it is not becoming that the United States offer a threat to any foreign country. It is, however, asking too much that we should steel our hearts against those for whom we have

To this Senator Aldrich replied that there were none except under an international agreement.

"Then," responded Senator Allen, "the Republicans have lied. I speak metaphorically."

He quoted the Republican platform of 1892 to show that the party then pronounced for bimetallism.

Senator Aldrich interrupted to say that it was more becoming to allow Republicans to interpret the platform for themselves.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Senator Squire today presented his report on the Fortifications Bill. The committee today amended the bill, making the total amount carried by it $30,000,000, instead of $87,000,000, making $10,000,000 available at once and to be expended during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, and $10,000,000 thereafter for the following seven years. This is in lieu of the emergency section of the bill, which allowed the President to expend all the money at his discretion. The bill also authorizes contracts to be made for the entire works of fortifications.

inch Concern Felt for Michelson the War Correspondent-Consul-General Williams Fails to

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(Special Dis-patch.) The Herald's Washington spesited says that this country is approaching a crisis in its relations to Spain and Cuba. In addition to the action of the Senate, foreshadowed by speeches made from day to day in that body, made from day to day in that body, it is now considered certain that the House will adopt even a more advanced attitude toward the Cuban question. The Foreign Affairs Committee of the House will meet day after tomorrow, and it is reliably reported that they will agree upon a resolution requesting President Cleyeland to intervene in behalf of peace in Cuba.

The matter is now in the hands of the sub-committee, which will be ready to report on Thursday. Little doubt remains that the House will adopt any resolution on the subject reported by the committee, especially if it be of a radical nature. That President Cleveland has strong sympathy for the Cubars there is no doubt. alf of peace in Cuba

President Cleveland to Intervene in

It has been said, however, that the President has given a tacit promise to Spain that there will be no interference by this government until the rainy season has put a stop to active military operations. It is upon this promise that Minister De Lome has based his ntention of interfering while his prom ise holds good, which is until June.

It has long been President Cle land's intention to intervene at tha time, unless the rebellion should be crushed in the meantime, and he determined, some time ago, when he did take action in the Cuban matter that take action in the Cuban matter that it would be of a sort likely to lead to results. It is believed the House, when it finally reaches a vote, will adopt a resolution similar to that offered by Senator White, which places the responsibility for the action upon the executive, and the House will make a definite request for intervention.

KILLED THE GOATS. HAVANA, February 25 .- (By South American Cable.) Close to Moro Cas-tle, at the entrance of this harbor, is a beach termed Playa Chivo (Goats' Beach) so called on account of the many goats which browse in its vicin-ity. It transpired today that one night many goats which browse in its vicinity. It transpired today that one night last week a sentry on duty at the castle saw some whitish-looking forms approaching stealthily. The soldier challenged the approaching forms and, receiving no answer, discharged his rifle at them. The shot aroused the garrison of the fort, the guard turned out and a number of other soldiers opened fire upon the supposed enemy, with the result that the latter disappeared.

with the result that the latter disappeared.

The next morning an examination was made of the beach, and several goats were found dead about the beach, killed by the fire of the soldiers, who must have done better shooting than usual when engaged with the insurgents. Considerable amusement was caused by the affair, and the fact was about to be forgotten when persistent rumors were circulated in this city that a number of insurgents, said to be thirty men, had been executed near Moro Castle during the night. The report was denied by the Spanish officials, but it continued to circulate until the captain-general not only felt called upon to make an official denial, but ordered an investigation. Eventually the matter narrowed down to the following facts:

following facts:

Seme soldiers questioned concerning the cause of the firing were foolish enough to say that they believed a number of insurgents had been executed on the beach during the night. Instead of executing the thirty-five insurgents who have been confined in Moro Castle, the captain-general has the contraction of the captain of the captai Moro Castle, the captain-general has just liberated all against whom there just liberated all against whom there were no serious charges.

In addition, Gen. Weyler has most generously pardoned the Mayor of Managua, Señor Cristo, and his brother, who were recently captured by the Spanish after having raised a numerous band of insurgents and joined the forces of the enemy.

The Spanish authorities have detained Charles Michelson, the correspondent of a New York and San Francisco newspaper, and his assistant, Lorenzo Betancourt, both Americans. They are charged with having disbeyed the orders of the Mayor of Marbeyed the orders of the Mayor of Mar obeyed the orders of the Mayor of Mariano in leaving that place and going into the insurgent lines at Punta Brava and Guato de Mariano.

The United States Consul-General, Ramon O. Williams, has been notified, and the friends of the prisoners are doing everything possible for them.

It now seems to be definitely established that Antonio Maceo was not killed near Placetas, as was generally believed. A relative of Maceo, who lives in this city, admits, however, that he had heard from good sources that the insurgent leader is wounded in the arm as a result of the engagement at El Gato. Among the dead insurgents found in the hills about Candela was a man evidently a messenger, who had in his sockets not addressed to Carillo is evidently a messenger, who had in his pocket a note addressed to Carillo, one of the insurgent leaders, saying: "Send me some salt." This note was signed "Gomez."

me some salt." This note was signed "Gomez."
During the different engagements about San José de las Lajos, 150 horses belonging to the insurgents were killed or wounded, among them being the one ridden by the insurgent colonel, Colunga. Troops buried the bodies of seventy insurgents which were picked up near San José de las Lajos. The insurgents have executed two volunteers.
United States Consul-General Williams has had a prolonged conference with Chot. Gen. Weyler with reference to Miebelson and Betancourt, the American newspaper correspondents who were arrested today. Up to the present time Mr. Williams's efforts on behalf of the prisoners have been without any result. A report has been received that the column of Victuna has had an engagement near Corral Falso, Matanzas, with Maximo Gomez, but no details of the fight are given. The insurgent leader and ex-bandit, Tuerto Matos, has been seriously wounded.

MICHELSON ARRESTED.

MADRID, Feb. 25.—Capt.-Gen. Weyler telegraphs from Havana that the situation in the rural districts of Cuba is such as to admit of holding the elections. Gen. Weyler also says the insurgent chief, Garcia, has been captured. A dispatch to a newspaper here from Havana mentions the arrest of Michelson, the correspondent of a New York and a San Francisco paper, and of an American named Betancourt, the latter charged with intriguing with the rebels.

SPANISH SOLDIERS MISSING.

SPANISH SOLDIERS MISSING.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—A special to a local paper from New York says that a dispatch from Havana reports 15,000 Spanish soldiers missing in Cuba. The fact has been cabled to the Madrid government, and the search for their whereabouts is going on day and night. Official circles are in a state of alarm, for 15,000 men, with 15,000 rifles and 500,000 cartridges, is an enormous item to the Spanish army. The disappearance of the men will ultimately be traced to either death in battle, the number of which has been concealed to hide the Spanish losses in details to positions in various parts of the islands, of which no record has been kept; or to desertions to join the insurgents. The Spanish records show that entire garrisons have joined the rebels with their arms in every province on the island.

An order was issued by Gen. Weyler several days ago for a report of the number, position and condition of the army. The responses to this, it is said, have increased the confusion, and there are reports now from reliable sources that there are 20,000 men instead of 15,000 to be accounted for.

CRITICISING THE SPEECHES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—A special to the World from Havana says that the Diaro de Mariano, commenting upon the speeches of Mr. Morgan and others in the United States Senate, says:

"It appears these gentlemen, who pretend to speak in the name of humanity, as well as other United States sympathisers with the Cuban rebels, fail to see that it is they who outrage humanity by encouraging hopes which cannot be realized, thereby prolonging a one-sided context in which the Spanish army will surely be victorious and causing great bloodshed. The rebels, exasperated by their failures, commit arson, murder and other crimes, keeping up their anarchistical, unjust struggle against civilization.

"We do not pretend to insinuate that the American Senate is not composed of as prominent and respectable persons now as in the days of Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Monroe, Webster and Clay, but it is unquestivable.

now as in the days of Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Monroe, Webster and Clay, but it is unquestionable that in past times the Senate never acted with utter disregard of truth and in violation of the courtesy due to friendly nations which never failed in its duty toward the United States, and never has given cause for interruption of cordial relations with that government. Never before have we had occasion to deplore that the Senate should act in such an irregular manner, or that members should be so abusive of Spain as were Senators Lodge, Call, Cameron and Morgan in Thursday's session.

"Fortunately Mr. Cleveland is aided by a cabinet of honest, competent men who do not ignore the traditions of their covernment, and are disposed. who do not ignore the traditions of their government and are disposed to infringe the laws of nations. It is probable, however, that President Cleveland will not be called upon to veto such action granting belligerent rights to those who in reality are not belligerents, for the Senate measure would require the concurrence of the House of Representatives before the President would be called upon, following the dictates of his honest conscience and his sense of duty, to veto it. Action by the Senate, in fact, means nothing. We ought not to attach any importance to it."

As soon as the news reached Mariano, the Marquis de Cervera, a retired colonel of the Spanish army, and the mayor of the town, ordered the civil guards, the police and all the available troops to march in the direction of Punta Brava. There was great rejoicing over the victory. The people turned out en masse to do honor to the conquering heroes, who were treated to an elaborate banquet at the expense of the municipality. A squadron of Spanish cavalry was sent from Havama to Mariano to reinforce the garrison there.

GREAT CROWD HANGS OUT ABOUT BOW-STREET COURT

Trial of the Transvani Leader Delayed During the Day - No Demonstraton Wanted by the Authorities.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(By Atlantic Cable.) It was probably not without design that the appearance of Dr. Jameson for arraignment in the Bow-street Police Court was delayed all through the 'day. There was a disposition to hilarity manifest in the locality of the court from an early hour, and it was evident there was a set purpose per-vading the London masses to give "Dr. Jim" an ovation,

The British authorities desire, as far

The British authorities desire, as far as possible, to give no appearance of encouraging such a demonstration of approval of a citizen who has been handed over to them by a power against which he sought to wage war, in the faith that Great Britain will see justice done to him and will properly avenge the outrage done a friendly power. But the British government is well aware that though Dr. Jameson is brought to England for trial as a is brought to England for trial as a criminal, he is, in the popular eye, a hero, and his raid into the Transvaal, far from being viewed as a nolitical enterprise, is looked upon as a chival-rous and knightly adventure to succor hard-pressed friends and fellow-coun-trymen. It was for this reason that the crowds about Bow-street Police Court were kept waiting and every-thing possible done to make a mystery of the movements of Dr. Jameson. It was hoped the ardor of his admirers of the movements of Dr. Jameson. It was hoped the ardor of his admirers would be cooled by the long wait, and the noisy mob waiting to cheer him would grow weary and depart.

But all this strategy was without avail. The people insisted upon waiting. They grew impatient and somewhat irritable, to be sure, and many rumors circulated among them that they had been duped into coming to Bow street, while the distinguished prisoner had been quietly smuggled into another court and there arraigned and quietly bailed. It did not take long, however to prove the falsity of these rumors, and the crowd renewed its vigil with re-awakened zest.

At 3:15 o'clock the faith of the crowd that they had not been waiting in vain was quickened by the arrival at Bowstreet Police Court of a party of aristocratic friends of Dr. Jameson. Among these were the Duke of Abercorn, Viscount Chelsea, the Earl of Arlington, Col. Stracey, private secretary of the Marquis of Salisbury, several Colonial Office officials, Charles E. Ward, M. P., and many other people of note. Many of these were shown to prominent places in the courtroom, which was thus made to present an animated scene during the period of the still further wait.

As a matter of fact, it was quite late in the day before Dr. Jameson was landed at all. He was brought on a tug to Frith-on-the-Thames and was then conducted by a further roundabout and obscure route to Bowstreet Police Court.

As a consequence it was almost 6:30 o'clock in the evening when he was was then conducted by a further roundabout and obscure route to Bowstreet Police Court.

As a consequence it was almost 6:30 o'clock in the evening when he was finally driven up to the entrance of the court and brought in. The authorities thus succeeded in evading any very noisy demonstration on the part of the waiting crowds outside, as they were scarcely aware that the prisoner was among them before he had disappeared in the courtroom But his entrance to the courtroom was the signal for a remarkable scene. Evidently everyone in the courtroom was of one mind in sympathizing with him. All were his friends, and all rose and uncovered upon his appearance, giving him a hearty cheer. It was in vain that the court officers sought to quell the demonstration.

The charge lodged against Dr. Jameson and fourteen of his fellow-prisoners was then declared to be "warring oners was then declared to be "warring against a friendly state."

After the charge had been read, Henry Matthews, Q.C., who was Home Secretary in the former Salisbury government, announced that, in view of the importance of the case, the law officers of the crown would conduct the prosecution.

Formal evidence was then presented as to the circumstances of the arrest. The lawyers who were in court in behalf of the accused men asked that their personal recognizance be accepted for ball. Sir John Bridge, the chief magistrate of the Bow-street Police for ball. Sir John Bridge, the chief magistrate of the Bow-street Police Court, from his place on the bench, said that before deciding upon the ball, he felt that he ought to observe that, in his opinion, a graver offense could not be charged against men than that charged against the prisoners. It was a crime of the highest possible gravity, the magistrate continued, and it must be so treated by every one, when they consider that the commission of such an offense might create a war between the magistrate continued, and it must be so treated by every one, when they consider that the commission of such an offense might create a war between countries previously friendly. The circumstances of the present case, he said, were most peculiar. He felt satisfied that the prisoners would appear when wanted. He therefore accepted their personal recognizance and fixed their bail at £2000 each.

Sir John Bridge addressed the prisoners personally in a grave and serious vein. He urged them, for their own sakes, and for the sake of the good faith of the country, to refrain from appearing where the public excitement would be aroused or in any way allowing themselves to assist in disturbing the peace. Notwithstanding the tone and tenor of his remarks deprecating any public demonstration over the prisoners, the withdrawals of the defendants from the courtroom was accompanied by a renewed outbreak of cheering. The court officers set about restoring order, and by vigorous remonstrances finally succeeded in quelling the disturbance.

When the courtroom had become quiet again, Sir John Bridge said sternly: "That sort of thing might bring the name of England into contempt."

Meanwhile a still wilder scene was being enacted outside the courtroom. The prisoners had been smuggled into the courtroom so unexpectedly and with such dexterity that the waiting mob was cheated out of their opportunity for shouting. But they were ready this time. Dr. Jameson's appearance outside the building was the signal for a wild outburst of cheering, throwing hats and a tremendous pressure to get up within reach of the popular idol. The crowd's intentions were friendly, but they threatened bodily harm to the object of their admiration. Dr. Jameson was quickly hemmed in by a surging throng, who apparently sought to carry him, and he made his way through them with great difficulty. When he finally reached his cab he was driven off without waiting to make any sign of acknowledgement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance.

ender Composition.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) ST. PAUL, (Minn.) Feb. 25.—Prof. George Huntington of Carlton College, Northfield, Minn., is well known all over the Union as an author, and his latest poem, written in response to a request for an international hymn for the English-speaking people and first sung at Carlton College yesterday, has become quickly popular there.

INTERNATIONAL HYMN.

(Tune. "America.")

(Tune, "America.")
Two empires by the sea,
Two nations, great and free,
One anthem raise;
One race of ancient fame,
One tongue, one faith, we claim,
One God whose glorious name
We love and praise.

What deeds our fathers wrought, What battles we have fought, Let fam record. Now vengeful passion cease, Come victory's peace; Nor hate nor pride's carrice Unsheath the sword.

Though deep the sea and wide 'Twixt realm and real, its tide Binds strand to strand. So be the gulf between Gray coasts and islands green, Great populace and Queen By friendship spanned.

Now may the God above Guard these lands we love In East or West; Let love more fervent glow, As peaceful ages go, And strength yet stronger grow, Blessing and blest.

When Secretary Carlisle arose to address the assemblage, he was greeted with loud applause. After thanking the club for its hospitality and for the cordial reception it had extended to him, he said:

"I wanted to be here tonight because I knew that your halls would be thronged and your tables surrounded mainly by old-fashioned Democrats who have never repudiated, and I am sure never will repudiated, and I am sure never will repudiate, the principles of their party—sound money, just taxation, economy in the expenditure of the public moneys, honesty and fidelity in the discharge of official duty and the preservation of individual liberty and the rights of the States. differences of opinion must be finally settled by the majority. But there is but one position upon which there is any serious difference of opinion among our Democratic friends. It is a most important one, for it involves, in my judgment, not only the credit and honor of the country, but the good faith and material welfare of all our people. It cannot be discussed here, but only stated. If there was any economic policy to which the Democratic party achered with more tenacity than to any other in the past days it was that the currency used by the people in the transaction of their business should always be on a sound and stable basis; that all notes issued by banks should be redeemable in specie on demand, at par value, and that nothing but specie should be made the legal tender for the payment of debts.

"Now it is proposed to condemu this ancient Democratic policy, at least so far as it relates to the maintenance of a sound and stable currency, by authorizing the free coinage of silver at a ratio which shall make the legal-tender silver dollar worth about one-half as much as the legal-tender gold dollar. In other words, it is proposed that, instead of continuing the monetary system based on a gold standard, where it was place by Democratic legislation during the administration of Andrew Jackson, and where it has been practically ever since, it shall be so changed as to conform to the monetary system of China, South America and the small South American states.

"We are asked to adopt a policy which would result in silver monometallism, with an unlimited issue of silver and the total disuse of gold as a money metal, and whether we will or will not take this disastrous policy and incorporate it into our cireed is the great question which, as I intimated a few minutes ago, must now be settled by the only tribunal which can pass judgment upon it. This question cannot be evaded, if we would, and ought not to be evaded if we could.

"Honesty is the best policy in politics, For my part, the last ambition of my life is to see the Democratic party, to which I have always been attached, retain the position which naturally belongs to it in favor of the maintenance of the public credit at all times and under all circumstances, for maintaining a monetary system which shall secure to all classes of our citizens, the laborer as well as the capitalist, the best money in the world.

"Gentlemen, the Democratic party is not dead. (Cheers,) The time is not at hand to dissolve its organization and distribute its assets among the populace a

FOUND A METEORITE

It is About Four Feet High and Nearly Round.

Deacon Dexter Tells What Mrs. Stockton Said—The Board of Regents and a School Site.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) PALM SPRINGS, Feb. 25.—(Special Dispatch.) Burgis W. Smith of Red-lands and Arthur D. Lloyd, manager of Blossom Alavon Mining Company, while hunting in the San Jacinto range, near Whitewater, found a large meteor. The meteor is about four feet high, nearly round in shape, and contains a large percentage of Iron.
Judging from the position and condition of the ground it struck the earth in a slanting westward direction.

DR. BROWN'S TRIAL.

Deacon Dexter Quotes Mrs. Stock

CEY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25 .- Stand ing-room only was to be obtained by late-comers when the trial of Rev. Dr. C. O. Brown for immorality was re-sumed at the First Congregational Ohurch today. The first witness was Rev. John Ray, at one time assistant paster of the First Congregational Church. He testified that he investi-gated Mrs. Stockton's reputation when gated Mrs. Stockton's reputation when she was proposed for membership in the church and that he found nothing objectionable. Later it was proposed to invite Mrs. Stockton to enter the church choir. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Brown, objected and she did not sing in the choir. Rev. Ray said he had never seen Rev. Brown and Mrs. Stockton conversing together and that he always knocked at the doop before entering the pastor's office.

Deacon Dexter of the church testified that after the Davidson scandal had been made public Mrs. Stockton called on him and said that Dr. Brown must not drag her into it. She admired Brown and would even lie and steal for him if necessary, but he must not mention her name in the scandal. Dr. Brown declined to make any contract with Mrs. Stockton. The council then took a recess to discuss some matters in secret.

Mrs. Mae Davis, who had previously testified that she knew Mrs. Stockton was an immoral person and a blackmailer, was recalled, but her testimony was not important. The council adjourned until evening, when Mrs. Davidson, whose arrest for blackmailing Dr. Brown caused all the trouble, appeared as a witness.

At the evening session Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper was called to identify several letters written to her from Port Angeles by Mrs. Stockton for the purpose of refuting the statement thaf Mrs. Stockton for eral letters written to her from Port Angeles by Mrs. Stockton for the purpose of refuting the statement that Mrs. Cooper had sent Mrs. Stockton to a kindergarten at Port Angeles for the purpose of getting her out of the city. Mrs. Cooper said she had always had the highest regard for Mrs. Stockton. When the judge advocate had finished with the witness, Dr. Brown cross-examined Mrs. Cooper. His questions were frequently tinged with sarcasm, which brought forth cutting replies from Mrs. Cooper. By way of prefacing a long line of questions relative to the stories about Mrs. Stockton's career at Port Angeles, Dr. Brown asked Mrs. Cooper if she believed Mrs. Stockton to be a moral woman. "I believe Mrs. Stockton is trying to lead a Christian life now," replied Mrs. Cooper. The manner in which Mrs. Cooper. The manner in which Mrs. Cooper. The manner in which Mrs. Cooper is the believed drs. Mrs. Cooper factiand added the word "now" to her reply was caught up in an instant by the Brown faction, and a suppressed chorus of "nows" arose from the audience.

Mrs. Cooper said she had never heard anything derimental to the character of Mrs. Stockton while she was at Port Angeles. She said she had heard rumors to the effect that Mrs. Stockton was perhaps a gay widow, but she believed these gaitles consisted of the mannerisms which indicate the goodness of her nature. Such demonstrations might have been made at partions might have been made at partions might have been made at parmannerisms which indicate the good-ness of her nature. Such demonstra-tions might have been made at par-ties or other social events. "Were they made at parties where gentlemen only were invited?" in-quired Dr. Brown.

quired Dr. Brown.

Mrs. Cooper frowned deeply for a moment and then replied that she was not aware Mrs. Stockton had ever attended parties where men were the only guests.

Dr. Brown asked Mrs. Cooper if she had not heard Mrs. Stockton's name unpleasantly connected with the name of a prominent resident of Port Angeles, and if she did not know, as a matter of fact, that Mrs. Stockton had been named as the co-respondent in a divorce suit in that city. Mrs. Cooper gave negative answers to both questions. An attempt was made to show that Mrs. Stockton cared little for her children from the fact that one of her daughters had been given away by adoption. The doctor asked Mrs. Cooper if she did not believe that the manner in which Mrs. Stockton dressed indicated that she was able to support both of her children, if she cared to. Mrs. Cooper gave evasive answers to several cated that she was able to support both of her children, if she cared to. Mrs. Cooper gave evasive answers to several questions of this kind, as she said she was not competent tuo speak of Mrs. Stockton's financial condition. Dr. Brown pressed the question, and at length Mrs. Cooper replied that she had never made inquiry into the matter, as she had always believed such things were none of her business.

Mrs. Frank French succeeded Mrs. Cooper on the witness stand. She told how Dr. Brown had once threatened her with a church trial because she would not permit Mrs. Stockton to appear on the programme at a Turkish tea given at the church. The doctor became yerry angry, she said, but a few days later he wrote a note to her husband apologizing for what he had said. Mrs. French said she could not understand why Dr. Brown insisted that Mrs. Stockton should be on the programme, when, according to her own statement, a few weeks before, while visiting Mrs. Stockton; who was confined to her bed by illness, she had thrown her arms about his neck and kissed him. Dr. Brown admitted that he had been deceived by Mrs. Stockton. He said her own actions convinced him that she was unworthy of confidence, and he therefore wrote a note to Mr. French apologizing for the manner in which he attempted to compel Mrs. French to place an unworthy woman on the programme for the Turkish tea.

At 9:30 a clock the conference took a recess until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

MORE SENSATION. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The investigation into the charges made against the Rev. Dr. C. O. Brown will be resumed this afternoon with the promise of new sensations. The Committee on Investigation which was delegated by the council to receive and formulate charges, heard yesterday the stories of three important witnesses. One of the first visitors to the committee was Mrs. Charles E. Thurston, who submitted a statement far more damaging to the Rev. Dr. Brown than any which she had before made in the case. Ars. Thurston sppears to know much more shout the Overman episode than SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25 .- The in-she at first declared. Her evidence is deemed to be important, as she received most of the story from Mattie Overman herself.

most of the story from Mattie Overman herself.

"Mattle told me that Dr. Brown had professed love for her," said Mrs. Thurston. "She even went so far as to tell me that Dr. Brown squeezed her hand while he was walking with his wife. Dr. Brown had visited her at Mrs. Tunnell's rooms and the poor girl told me how the minister would come to her with open aims. He would throw his arms around her and squeeze and kiss her. She said that she was lovesick, but that Dr. Brown was a great deal worse. I have this from the girl herself.

"Then there is the incident of the gold watch. Mattle showed me a beautiful gold watch, saying it was a gift from her sister, Mrs. Ashley. After Mattle went to Tacoma I met Mrs. Ashley, and she asked me if Mattle had shown me the gold watch that had been given to her by Dr. Brown. The girl was overcome by flattery. She told me herself that she had to attend all of Dr. Brown's sermons, because he could not preach as well when she was absent."

absent."

The charge which J. F. Mason presented to the council accuses the pastor of having intimidated a very estimable young lady of the church by threatening her with an unwarranted and uncalled-for attack upon her character. In submitting it in behalf of the young lady and her mother, Mason exacted a promise that the name of the young woman and of her mother shall not be made public.

THE CONSOMME.

The Primary Election Law is Unconstitutional.

County Officers May Also Be Legislated Out-by the Supreme Court-So-called Special Legislation Gets a'

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.-The Call fornia Supreme Court today decided that the primary election law, passed at the last Legislature, is unconstitutional on the ground that it is special and lo-cal legislation. Chief Justice Beattle rendered the decision. All the other

Justices concurred.

Justices concurred.

The proceeding was brought in the shape of a suit by Martin Marsh, a taxpayer, to enforce the Supervisors of Los Angeles from appropriating public funds of the county for the purchase of ballot boxes and in payment of other expenses involved in carrying out the provisions of the act of March 27, 1895. The Superior Court of Los Angeles county sustained Marsh's contention that the act was local and special, and, therefore, unconstitutional and void. In affirming the action of the lower court

the Supreme Court says:
"There can be no question that the act is local and special since by its terms it is to apply only and take effect and be in force in only counties of the first and second classes; that is to say, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The act is intended to regulate primary elections; that is, election of delegates to nominating conventions, and not only in its general scope and nature but by rious specific provisions is made an sential part of the general law of the

"Not only is it a general law that should have a uniform operation, and not only is the case to which it applies one that the general law can be made applicable to, but it clearly appears that it was designed originally to ap-ply uniformly throughout the State. This is shown by the various expressions scattered throughout its first twenty-four sections, in which the original scheme of the law is embodied. But for sections 25 and 26, which are in some respects incongruous with other portions of the act, limiting the operations of the law to counties of the first and second class, we should have a law complete and fully capable of applying, and intended to apply, in every part of the State.

"It is not a matter of argument or speculation, therefore, whether this is the case in which a general law could be made applicable. This act, by its terms, shows that such is the case, and if it did not it is apparent that the law egulating the election of public officers by prescribing exclusive means by which candidates of great political parties can secure a place on the official ballot is necessarily a law of general nature, and capable of uniform opera-

COUNTY OFFICERS OUT OF LUCK. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The Su-preme Court today denied the applica-tion of W. A. Gert, a taxpayer of Sacramento county, for a writ of mandate compelling the Supervisors of the county to perform the duties imposed upon the election commissioners and boards of supervisors under the pro-visions of the act of March, 1895, relating to primary elections.

The court finds that the act in ques The court finds that the act in question, whether constitutional or unconstitutional, is restricted to counties of the first and second class and consequently has no application to Sacramento county or any other except the city and county of San Francisco and county of Los Angeles "unless the contention of the petitioner can be sustained that the classes referred to in said section 26 are those defined in section 4006 of the Political Code, originally enacted, which reads as follows:

said section 26 are those defined in section 4006 of the Political Code, originally enacted, which reads as follows:

"Sec. 4006. For purposes other than roads and highways, the counties of this State are classified as follows:

"First, those containing 20,000 inhabitants or over constitute the first class.

"Second, those containing 8000 and under 20,000 constitute the second class.

"Third, those containing less than 8000 constitute the third class.'"

The court decides that the reference in the primary-election law is to the classes defined in the latest county-government act, and not to classes established by sec. 4006 of the Political Code.
"It follows, therefore, that neither this petitioner nor the respondents have any interest in the determination of the questions which they have attempted to submit, in the constitutionality of the act of March 27, 1895, and that it ought to be decided upon such submission. The writ is denied."

This decision, following upon that referring to the election of a commission, looks like settling the hopes of those officials who expected to hold office for four years in place of the customary two.

of Ministers, for immoral conduct, San Francisco newspaper reporters have been hunting for a mysterious Mrs. Baddin or Baden, who is said to have attempted to blackmail the parson. In San Francisco it was thought that the woman who could a tale unfold that would go far to either prove or disprove the charges against Dr. Brown, was in Los Angcles, and that she was supposed to be masquerading here under the name of Mrs. J. S. Jones, a trained nurse. Reporters undertook to find Mrs. Jones and ascertain whether she was Mrs. Baden or knew anything about the Brown scandal.

Mrs. Jones was found at the St. Helena House, on South Broadway, routed out of bed at late hours at night, and cross-examined. She stoutly denied being Mrs. Baden, and showed numerous letters and credentials to prove that she is Mrs. Jones, and not sailing under false colors. Mrs. Jones is a midwife, and has letters of recommendation from Rev. Dr. Dille and other prominent people in San Francisco. She was a mother-and a rather ex-She was a mother—and a rather exemplary one—of five children, although her own age was bately nine. Two of these children were twins, and she generally alluded to them as "Mr. Amplach's children," referring to an exceedingly respectable gentleman in the next settlement, who—I have reason to believe—has never set eyes on her or them. The twins were quite naturally alike—having been in a previous state of existence two nine-pins—and were still somewhat vague and irrelevate below their shoulders in their long clothes, but were also firm and globular about the head, and there were not that Guba Bill had once pulled up the still somewhat vague and irrelevate below their shoulders in their long clothes, but were also firm and globular about the head, and there were not wanting those who professed to see in this an unmistakable resemblance to their reputed father. The other children were dolls of different ages, sex and condition, but the twins may be said to have been distinctly her own conception. Yet such was her admirable and impartial maternity that she never made any difference between them. "The Amplach's children" were a description rather than a distinction. She was herself the motherless child of Robert Foulkes, a hard-working but somewhat improvident teamster on the express route between Big Bend and Reno. His daily vocation, when she was not accompanying him in the wagon, led to an occasional dispersion of herself and her progeny along the road and at wayside treatment those places. But the family was generally collected together by rough but kindly hands already familiar with the handling of her children. I have a very vivid recollection of Jim Carter tramping into a saloon after a five-mile walk through a snow-drift with an Amplach twin in his pocket. "Suthin ought to be done," he growled, "to make Mary a little more careful of them Amplach children; I picked up one outer the snow a mile beyond Big Bend." "God bless my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the ditches. But she balbes my soul!" said a casual passen-mile to the different said to the different said to the conditions of here to the mile to the different said the ploneer coach at the request of the and condition, but the twins may be seen too has a distinctly her own and condition, but the twins may be seen too has a condition of the seen that the seen of love, thought that it smiled!

The two remaining members of the family were less distinctive. "Gleriana"—pronounced as two words: "Glery Anna," being the work of her father, who also named it, was simply a cylindrical roll of canvas wagon-covering girt, so as to define a neck and waist, with a rudely inked face—altogether a weak, pitiable, manilke invention; and "Johnny Dear," alleged to be the representative of "John Doremus," a young storekeeper, who occasionally supplied Mary with gratuitous sweets. Mary never admitted this, and as we were all gentlemen along that road, we were blind to the suggestion. "Johnny Dear" was originally a small, plaster phrenological cast of a head and bust, begged from tee of the public scool at Duksvinis had intimated that Mary's Bohemian wanderings were a scandal to the tounty. She was growing up in ignorance, a dreadful ignorance of everything but the chivalry, the deep tenderness, the delicay and unselfishness of the rude men around her, and obliviousness of faith in anything but the immeasurable bounty of nature toward her and her children. Of course there was a fierce discussion between "the boys" of the road and the few married families of the settlement on this point, but of course progress and "snivelization"—as the boys chose to call it—triumphed. The projection of a railroad settled it; Robert Foulkes, promoted to a firemanship on a division of the line, was made to understand that his daughter must be educated. But the terrible question of Mary's family remained. No school would open its doors to that hetero-duced frame, and all the devices of with tacks and well hammered in, and with tacks and well hammered in, and a with tacks and well hammered in, and the property of the property of Mary in heart for the next week's desolation.

But there came one Saturday and Sunday when Mary did not appear, and it was known along the road that she had been called to San Francisco to meet an aunt who had just arrived from the States. It was a vacant Sunday to "the boys," a very hollow, unsanctified Sunday somehow, without that little figure. But the next Sunday, and the next were still worse, and then it was known that the dreadful aunt was making much of Mary, and was sending her to a grand school—a convent at Santa Clara—where it was rumored girls were turned out so accomplished that their own parents did not know them. But we knew that was impossible to our Mary and a letter which came from her at the end of the month and before the convent had closed upon the blue pinafore, satisfied us, and was balm to our anxious hearts. It was characteristic of Mary—it was addressed to nobody in particular—and would, but for the prudence of the aunt—have been entrusted to the post-office open and undirected. It was a single sheet, handed to us without a word by her father, but as we passed it from hand to hand we understood it as if we had heard our lost playfellow's voice.

BOSQUI VS. BAUER.

THE CELEBRATED CASE SET FOA TRIAL TODAY.

Bauer Files a Counter Claim Alleging that He Advanced Bosqu. Over Two Thousand Dollars and Owes Him Nothing.

Theodore Bauer, through his attorney, J. Marion Brooks, yesterday filed an answer to the complaint of W. A. Bosqui, in which the latter asks judgment against Bauer for $200, alleged to be due him for services rendered.

Bauer, in his answer, denies owing Bosqui $200, or any other sum, but, on the contrary, puts in a counter claim against Bosqui for various sums al-leged to have been "loaned and ad-vanced" the ex-detective, aggregating many times the amount of Bosqui's claim. Bauer specifies these "loans" as follows: In March, 1894, $150; April 28, 1894, $100; May 10, 1894, $400, with which Bosqui was to buy himself a suit of clothes; January 1, 1895, $200, to defray Bosqui's expenses in going East to bring back Alexander Docter, a fugitive from justice, Bosqui alleging that he would have plenty of money when he returned, whether he got his prisoner or not. July 26, 1895, Bauer alleges that he "advanced" Bosqui thurther sum of $100, and at various times sundry sums aggregating over $2000, for which defendant made no charge. many times the amount of Bosqui's $2000, for which defendant made no charge.

Bauer alleges that there is now due and owing him from Bosqui $590, but that he will remit and waive all claims against him except $299, for which amount he prays judgment.

The attorneys for Bosqui say Bauer has no claim against their client whatever. Bosqui never received a cent from Bauer except $100 paid on account of his services as watchman, and it is because of $200 more due on Bosqui's contract with Bauer, which the latter has refused to pay, that the suit is brought.

"Bauer's talk about having advanced has refused to pay, that the suit is brought.

"Bauer's talk about having advanced Bosqui so much money in the last few years is all wind; there is no more truth in it than in the statement that he paid $1500 to get a license for his Horseshoe saloon. Whenever Bauer gives a dollar to anybody it is multiplied by ten, and everybody knows it," said one of the attorneys yesterday evening, in speaking about the case.

Mose Gunst is said to have paid Bosqui's expenses for bringing back Alex Docter.

Docter.

'The case is to come to trial today.

It is expected that Attorney Brooks will try to obtain a postponement, but Mr. Rush says he will insist that it shall be pushed to a conclusion without further delay.

A TOBOGGAN. Reminder of the Joys of an Eastern

In front of a certain Spring-street second-hand store is a toboggan. As it lies there on a comfortable cot, baskit lies there on a comfortable cot, basking in the warmth of the unclouded sun, fanned by the soft breeze fresh from the ocean, across the green farms and the fruit-orchards, the wanderer which has strayed so far from its proper sphere must sometimes long for the old swift rush down a steep hillside, the swing and sway with which it used to dart along the hard snowcrust, gleaming like diamonds in the winter moonlight.

winter moonlight.

The toboggan fell into the present owner's hands several years ago, along with a lot of other old household stun which a Los Angeles woman one "cleaning-day" had the strength of mind to rout forth from a garret haunted by broken chairs and legless tables and empty picture frances and other absolutely useless truck which housewives carefully clean and put back in the storeroom several times a year, there to remain until the process is repeated. The second-hand man stowed the toboggan away in a corner of his shop and left it there, forgotten, for nearly three years.

Then one day, just to be doing something, he put the toboggan in the window. It collected as much of a crowd as the monkey which gambols and cavorts in the bird-store window on Fourth street. So the good-natured man put the toboggan out in front of his store, where people can handle it as much as they wish. They ask the most remarkable questions about it.
The majority of people don't know what it is. They have all heard of toboggans, but to see one in the hickory and iron is an experience for which they scarcely dared to hope.

The way the toboggan happened to reach California was that a Chicago woman and her son determined to come to Los Angeles to live. They chartered a car and told the packers to send everything in the house, from the weather-cock on top to the coal shovel in the cellar. So the toboggan came along.

And as the people stop to finger it and crane their necks to see it as they

The conductor of a Traction car discovered a small blaze in a stall on the Third street side of the Hammel & Denker Block, corner of Spring and Third streets, about 11 o'clock Monday night. With the aid of the motor-man he extinguished the fire before any damage was done.

The affair would be considered of little consequence but for the fact that the conductor says he saw a man run little consequence but for the fact that the conductor says he saw a man run away from the place at the moment the flames broke forth. He gave chase to the fellow, but lost sight of him in a crowd of people issuing from the Los Angeles Theater.

There seems to be some ground for the belief that incendiarism was attempted. The property belongs to T. D. Stimson, and the alleged attempt to burn it may have some connection with the recent explosion at Mr. Stimson's residence and be part of the plot to blackmail the millionaire or damage his property because he has refused to accede to the attempt to extort money from him.

The stall in which the fire occurred is being fitted up for a fruit-stand or some such purpose and is entirely open to the street, work on it being unfinished. A match had been applied to a pile of waste paper on the floor, and but for the timely discovery of the act the fire would have made good headway. A black mark on the wooden partition against which the burning rubbish rested was all the evidence of the fire that was visible yesterday, thanks to the Traction employés who so promptly smothered the flames.

THE GREENBACK IN CONGRESS.

One of the late issues of the period ical, Sound Currency, is devoted to discussion of "The Greenback in Congress." It contains, in succinct form, the legislative history of the first issue in 1862, of legal-tender government notes; also the best part of what was said for and against the proposed 'measure of necessity" in both house of Congress is presented in convenien The debate is instructive and interesting. Roscoe Conkling is quoted in this discussion as follows:

Such a step, if it should ever reached. It is the last expedient to which kings and nations can resort. When you clothe an individual with the power to give his own checks to his debts and supply his wants pay his debts and supply his wants, when he has nothing with which to pay them, and when you ordain that every man shall receive his check, you have performed for that man the last sad offices of financial humanity; there is nothing left to be done for him; and, if he fails then, he is past resuscitation and past resurrection. So of a government; you may try any other expedient with impunity, and, if it fails, you have remaining a resort to other things; but if you once authorize the issue and compel the acceptance of its own paper, and that proves to be a failure, then there is nothing left; the die is cast; the last link is broken."

The principal points involved in the debate are: (1) The constitutionality of legal-tender legislation. And it is interesting to note that grave doubts on of all of its supporters. (2) The necessity for such legislation. It was strongly urged that it would destroy confidence and weaken rather than strengthen the government financially, Justin S. Morrill said "if this paper money is a war measure, it is not may well make him grin with delight." (3) The impairment of contracts. Because it was seen that gold and silver would go to a premium and that the standard of money would be lowered; it was shown clearly that it would impair all past contracts to compel the of paper when coin was contracted for. It was strongly urged that because of this feature it was an ex post facto law, and therefore, unconstitutional. (4) The effect upon public and private morals of making it legal to pay off debts at a discount. (5) The effects of inflation upon the poor. It was pointed out that the laboring man would suffer most through enhancing outlined, is pertinent at the present time, in view of the strenuous efforts of free-coinage flatists to force upon the country a debased standard of values.

Against these objections to making inconvertible paper legal-tender, there was no argument except that of the extreme necessity of obtaining money at once and the great difficulty of doing so by loans or by increased taxation. The force of circumstances betary of the Treasury, changed his position during the debate in the House and sent in a letter recommending the passage of the legal-tender act.

ramento Bee, it appears that there are in that city 6635 houses of all or about 8 per cent., are vacant. About 500 new houses were built within the nest two years. It is said that only one murder out of sixty is legally punished, while one out of forty is lynched. From which it would appear that Judge Lynch is much more thorough in the "I think Senators should apply the Golden Rule." Senator Stewart had not been paying very close attention pricked up his ears and lifed up his "Mr. President," he exclaimed, "I don't know what this gold rule is but I object to it. The money power has run this country long enough. Ever since the crime of '73 was comjected an explanation, and, amid laughter, the Nevada statesman sub-

A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Press quotes ex-Senator Paddock as of the opinion that Maj. McKinley has by far the best pros ects for a nomination despite the efbeing made to destroy his strength by the nomination of various local candidates in the States in which his strength is greatest. Mr. Paddock said: "Reed is not half so strong in the Northwest as either McKinley or Allison. As for Mr. Morton, I think his age and wealth are against him. There have been a number of stories in circulation about Harrison's letter of declination, saying it was a ruse to get the nomination at the last moment, as a dark horse. I want to say that I saw Mr. Harrison not two days ago, and talked with him on this very subject. He told me positively that he was out of the race forever. I never heard him express himself so strongly on the question of renomination. He said that he had had enough of the onerous duties of White House life and wanted no more of it. So you can see there is nothing in the other statement, and that the general's retire ment from politics is positive."

Henry Clews expresses the opinion that the silver vote in the House of Representatives is a "most important gain in favor of public confidence. It mounts to an emphatic nationa leclaration in favor of the sure main enance of the gold basis. trength of the majority against free coinage was much larger than had been expected; and, to that extent, it evidences a rapid wane in the pro silver sentiment of the West and South, and a valuable advance to ward better conceptions, respecting sound money among the people at large. This vote," he says further, "is especially timely as affording a guide to the platform-makers of the coming political conventions. The blow administered to the political silverites is so effective that it can hardly fail to have an important bearing upon party policies. It has had a disheartening effect upon an influential class of politicians who have favored silver, but who may now be expected to consider the changing of their political moorings." Yea, verily follows: "Some of the legislatures in the Eastern States have passed laws making it obligatory to use the union label on all official printing. The value of such a law in California is too apparent to need argument. We be seve that efforts should be made in this direction. Influence should be brought to bear upon the nominating semblymen and Senators pledged to vote for the passage of such a law."

The Times is not aware that any State Legislature has passed such a law as is here referred to. If such a law were passed, it would without our esteemed contemporary to get out of its horrible fix is to "put up" and of the Union. As was anticipated, the Supreme Court has declared the primary-election law to be invalid, chiefly on the ground that it is special and not genral legislation. However technically defective the law may have been, the object at which it aimed—the purificaion of primary elections—was praise worthy. The friends of honest elections should not be discouraged at this et-back but should be promptly before the next Legislature with measures calculated to remedy the defects of the act just invalidated.

If not, they will be reported later. "Little Mildred" will appear as a newsboy, and as the little tot's heart is enlisted in the cause, it is safe to say that she will delight the audience no end. May Nannary will be seen as Nellie Lattimer and may be depended upon to excel herself in the role. Mortimer Snow will present the picturesque Jack Dallas. Clyde Hess will be the Dave Armstrong of the play. W. R. Dailey as Staggeract will do clever things in a comedy way. Emily Hess as Kitty Dallas will join heartily in the good cause. E. F. Nannary will appear as the brave young officer, Lieut. Ames. Ada Levick, who has a whole town full of admirers, will present the role of Rene Whittemore, and Margaret Marshall will appear as her maiden aunt. Richard Scott will be a villain for charity and will exert himself to be as wicked as possible. Frank Cleaves will do Rupert Whittemore and will do the part well, and everybody will join heart and head in making "The Fire Patrol" go like a whole row of smoking fire engines on the way to a "holocaust." Be in time, be in the box office of the Burbank. Go early-to avoid the rush!

The Board of Lady Managers of the Newsboys' Home will occupy a loge at the performance this afternoon and Mrs. Mary E. Threlkeld, the president of the board and mahager of the home, will take up tickets at the door.

L. Behymer, publisher of the Burbank Theater bill of the play, will issue a souvenir programme and also give to each lady in attendance at the matinée a photo-engraving of May Nannary. It will be a great event and no one can afford to miss it.

ATTRACTION TONIGHT. Few men of the stage have had so many and such warm admirers and friends as has Thomas Keene, the tragedian. The man who interprets overmastering passions with such thrilling fidelity on the stage is himself of singularly simple and gentle character in private life, and his hours off the stage are devoted largely to cementing and retaining warm friendships. Gentle, openhearted and kindly, he is always doing that which will aid the struggler on the path he has climbed so high in, and it is an ambition with the actors and actresses, who wish to study the serious drama and to rise to its higher branches, to secure an engagement with Mr. Keene. The tragedian's tour this season will be an extended one. It opened in New York the first of September, and, after visiting all the principal cities of the country, he will return to the metropolis in the spring. This city will see him in two of his greatest character interpretations. ATTRACTION TONIGHT. Few men Enterprise Appreciated. HIGHLANDS (Cal.,) Feb. 24.the Editor of The Times:) Permit an admiring reader to thank you and your colaborers and to congratulate my neighbors for the masterful enterprise which places the Sunday morning Times upon the 8 o'clock breakfast tables of the rural population of South ern California. It is a genuine pleas ure—as well as a material aid to di-gestion—to read the world's history of yesterday in the pages of your "great religious daily" while munching our oatmeal and sipping the fragrant Mocha.

This highly-commedable innovation of The Times publishers in giving country patrons sixty miles away the morning paper at the same hour it is being distributed to city readers inaugurates a new era in metropolitan journalism worthy the emulation of your older, but less progressive, city contemporaries on both sides of the Rockies. You have demonstrated that "Times and tide wait for no man."

An Armenian Crusade.

siow months, one longs for the days of the crusades and the brave men of those times.

Then all Europe would have leaped to arms at a cry for help so deep and so prolonged as this has been.

How dearly we pay for these enlightened and civilized times; we pay in honor and manhood, in vim and strength; in all that is heroic and most that is manly.

Oh! for another great preacher like Peter, the Hermit, to go forth and raise the nations to their duty! Why could not a crusade be raised in this fag end of the nineteenth century, to wipe out the murderous, bestial Turk, as well as they of old could raise that grandest army to redeem the sepulchre of our Lord from the infide! That was a great and noble sentiment, but this—this is reality.

with locked horns, and witness these inhuman sights; they say they regret it very much, but can do nothing. America says, "It's not my business; am I my brother's keeper?"

But let this crusade be made up of all nations and no nation in particular. Let its banners be the red cross of old. Let its ranks be open to all, its officers and men in the uniform of the Armenlan Crusade. Let orators and preachers stir the people with the glory of this enterprise, and poets make war songs equal to this noble cause.

Nobility and heroism are not dead; men of all religions and those of no religion must feel that this is not merely a Christian matter. It is as broad as the human soul, and the great Creator is looking down in anger on the men and women He created that they permit this foul thing on the face of His beautiful earth. We should not look and pray to Him to do a thing He has made us able to do ourselves, saying, "How long, Oh Lord, how long?" and "Why does He permit it?"

If the great ones of the earth would rise above nationality to humanity, and start such a crusade, it would grow and move and conquer, as truth and justice must. The glories of being in those ranks would make men glad that they had lived. Such an army would not be lacking in men, arms nor money. It would be the grandest army that ever had lived. Such an army would not be lacking in men, arms nor money. It would be the grandest army that ever trod this earth—fighting in the noblest cause, and would show that now at the end of the nineteenth century all the humanity has not been civilized out

STRICTLY BUSINESS

The Los Angeles Delegation in Washington.

It Was a Very Respectable Lot of Lobbyists.

the Delegates Do not Win Their Point it Will not Be Their Fault - The Chances of McKinley.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON (D. C.,) Feb. 18. the citizens of Los Angeles could see their representatives here who are endeavoring to secure an appropriation for the San Pedro harbor, they would be proud of them. There was never a lobby in Washington the members of which attended to business more faith-fully or discreetly. In the first place, there were no long peeches before the committee. Every then there has been no junketing. Not-withstanding the fatigue naturally insoon as they reached Washington.

Within the first twenty-four hours every one of California's Representa-tives and Senators was seen. Monday they appeared before the Committee on Rivers and Harbors as stated in disatches. Two of the most influential nembers of the committee, Herman of Dregon and Catchings of Mississippi, t can be stated, are undoubtedly in Oregon and Catchings of Mississippi, it can be stated, are undoubtedly in favor of appropriating the full amount asked for, while, if there is any opposition, it has not yet developed.

Then the assistance of the California Representatives and Senators and letters of introduction from friends were freely used in order to see as many Congressmen as possible. Personal appeals were made and every honorable influence brought to bear.

When the delegation returns to Los Angeles the members will not be very well posted as to the points in and around Washington, but they will be living encyclopedias as to the points of the names, looks, manners and characteristics of the national Solons.

What the fate of the project may be the developments of time must prove.

the national Solons.
What the fate of the project may be the developments of time must prove. The spirit of economy and the disposition to distribute appropriations in as many sections as possible, owing to this being presidential year, may have the effect of cutting all measures down to one-half or even one-fourth the amount neally necessary, but the San Pedro Harbor project is in as favorable a shape as could be expected, and its chances have certainly been greatly improved by the work of the delegation from Los Angeles.

President Patterson of the Chamber of Commerce was joined here by his daughter, who is attending school in Boston. They had not seen each other for some months past, which fact added to the enjoyment of the occasion. Mr. Woolwine will visit Louisville and Nashville on his return trip, and sing the praises of Los Angeles through the blue-grass regions of Kentucky and Tennessee. Incidentally unring

From a political standpoint he has been somewhat lonesome in the delegation, and even more so when he observed how scarce Democrats are in Congress, and will spend a few days in erstwhile haunts of his where Democrats were plentiful. The news awaits him, however, that Louisville and Nashyille have both changed since he left them. They went Republican, and then grew until they have modern houses and cosmopolitan people. He has improved his time while here in successfully preaching the San Pedro Harbor faith to the Tennessee Senators, and other southerners, including Senator Danlel of Virginia.

while Col. Otts acted as pilot in bringing the Ohio men into the fold.

Whether or not their errand will be successful, the delegates will go home with a consciousness of leaving nothing undone that could be done, and creating a most favorable impression, among other indications of this being that they received more and better notices from the local newspapers than any similar delegation that has visited the city this session, and is the only one, the appearance of which before the committee was sent throughout the country by the Associated Press.

Almost every day increases the pros Kinley at St. Louis. Nineteen counties in Florida, including Duvall, the larges the State, have elected teen counties were instructed for M Kinley. In Nebraska at the State Con in the State convention, and those of fifteen counties were instructed for McKinley. In Nebraska at the State Committee meeting, the McKinley men had so decided a majority that instructions would have been given for him, had not his opponents appealed to State pride by a motion to instruct for exsenator Manderson, who at first declined to allow his name to be considered, but two days later withdrew his declination and can now be considered a dark horse, whose strength, however, will go to McKinley. Five of the six delegates chosen in Atlanta, Ga., are strong McKinley men, and three-fourths of those outside of Atlanta. The others are claimed by Quay. In New Jersey, two counties have acted, both for McKinley.

Hon. Robert P. Porter's new book, just issued on the life of William McKinley, will benefit his interests. Without being fulsome, the author presents his subject in so strong a light that it cannot fail to claim attention and add to the public admiration for the aposite of protection. He is termed "The principal living exponent of the protection side of the great economic question which divides the two political parties." The author further says: "Deeply imbedded in the foundations of the republic as are the principles of protection, the work of demonstrating the truth of those principles beyond the reach of doubt fell to McKinley. The name of McKinley will always be associated with the wisest, the broadest, the most harmonious and the most American fiscal legislation of the century."

After giving the details of Maj. McKinley's Scotch-Irish ancestry. Mr. Porter says: "We may certainly trace in these lines of ameestry McKinley's fighting qualities, his patriotism, his Americanism and his conscientious performance of all the duties of life. From these ancestors he inherited his reverence for religion, love of free institutions, devotion to the cause of the people, because he was of the people, and his admiration for the public school system and all institutions that are truly republican and truly American."

No additional light can as yet be thrown upon the condition of the tariff-bill question. In fact, the argument can be heard that the wisest policy would be to let it go, and the people will right it at the polis. Coupled with this is the assertion that it would but serve to increase the silver agitation, and at the last could not become a law, as the President would veto it, and much valuable time will be wasted if the measure is not dropped. Furthermore, that it was an emergency bill, and the bonds having been sold, no emergency now exists. This reasoning seems to have had some effect upon men who are known to be heartily in favor of the bill. As a matter of fact, the proceeds of the sale of the bonds cannot be used for the expenses of the government. Present revenue does not equal expenditures, and people from every section are clamoring for meney for public improvements. To shut down on public work during this period of financial depression would entail incalculable suffering, and then, too, delays in work already begun, or that is really needed are more expensive than the continuance or performance of such labor. Constituents from every section are urging their representatives to obtain appropriations. They do not want a profigate Congress, but neither do they want a Congress so economical that public interests suffer. There are enough men in favor of tariff legislation to accomplish it, if the silver Senators will allow it, and from the general public tone it looks as though any scheme to drop the measure would fall, but it is an undeniable fact that there is no ocertainty of the passage of a tariff bill at this session.

Microbes in Hospitals. (Golden Penny:) A Russian doctor has been spending some time on his hands and knees in the hospitals of his has been spending some time on his hands and knees in the hospitals of his country trying to count the number of micro-organisms on the floors and corridors. In the rooms which were exceptionally well cared for and swept daily the doctor found on the floor 11,000,000 to 34,000,000 microbes per square yard of surface. In the neglected corridors, however, and in those which were cleaned at longer intervals, the scientist discovered that there lurked 290,000,000 in every square yard. A gramme of dust taken from these rooms contained at least 66,000,000 microbes. The majority of these creatures, if we may call them by that name, are harmless, but the doctor warns us by saying that in this hospital dust many microbes of tuberculosis and pneumonia were encountered, and that there was every reason to believe that such and other contagious diseases may be transmitted through the medium of this impalpable dust which floats in the atmosphere.

With Dynamite.

(San Bernardino Sun.) An interesting statement for the benefit of the miners was developed yesterday in an interview with the well-known lawyer and miner, J. C. Christy, who is the owner of five claims in the Twentynine Palms mining district, and situated on the Mesquite range, which he considers very valuable. Mr. Christy's claims on the Mesquite range are about one and a half miles from upper Mesquite Springs, such springs having an abundance of water the year round to run a twenty-stamp mill. Persons passing those springs on their way to Surprise Springs, further west, would be astonished to see sand dunes twenty-five to thirty feet high, covering thousands of acres of land, but would be more surprised on going to the tops of the dunes to find the tops of trees protruding therefrom. Mr. Christy says that within the dunes are buried large mesquite trees that have been covered by the sand and have been preserved, and make the finest kind of wood for fuel, Quartz Wilson of Twenty-nine Palms told Mr. Christy that he put in a single stick of dynamite into one of the sand dunes, exploding it, and blew out over one hundred and fifty cords of wood at one blast; that the wood is unlimited; in fact, there is wood enough to run dozens of engines at least a hundred years. Mr. Christy says that he hauled two wagonloads of this wood to Twenty-nine Palms for Mr. Wilson, and says the wood burns like hickory. It might seem strange to a thoughtless person that one charge of dynamite would blow out 150 cords of wood at one blast; but when one reflects that 150 cords of wood is a pile only 4 feet high and 1200 feet long, or a distance in length of two blocks, the story is entirely rational. Mr. Christy will leave for another prospecting tour in this district next Tuesday, to be absent for about thirty days.

Salter Found Guilty.

Tom Salter had his second trial yesterday on the charge of violating the Sunday-closing ordinance, and was found guilty. Charles E. Roderer testified that he accompanied Officer Sawyer to Salter's saloon on the Sabbath day, and drinks which they ordered were furnished them. Salter waived time for sentence, and was fined $15.

little actress determined to show in some way her appreciation of Mr. Booth's kindness. The weather was rainy, and English laurel a scarce commodity, but she managed to procure some and made a wreath of it. On the evening when Hamlet was to be played she went to the theater, and, calling an usher, desired him to take the wreath up to Mr. Booth at the close of the play scene. The usher hesitated, and then called the stage manager, who, with many apologies, informed her that it was quite impossible to have any tribute taken up to Mr. Booth. "You see," he explained, "when there are two stars, we have to be very careful; there might be feeling," etc. "but," encouragingly, "I'll have it sent up to his dressing-room."

That was the best that could be done, and Mrs. Hill had the satisfaction of being told that Mr. Booth "got the wreath all right, for I saw it hanging up in his dressing-room."

Japanese Steamers.

(San Diego Union:) A letter was received by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday from an American resident of Kobe, Japan, who claims to represent several large corporations in that empire. He asks regarding the facilities of San Diego Bay for a large commerce, and hints that a large movement is on foot in Japan to make San Diego the terminus of a steamship line. He says: "I am in a position to start a line of steamers between this country and the United States if we can secure favorable terms, etc. Please give me the address of two or three live commission firms, that I may open up a correspondence with them. Are there any good, large warehouses near the wharf where a large cargo of cotton could be stored?"

AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR SUPPLYING LONG-FELT WANT.

The Proposed Site is the Present Show Place of Los Angeles-A Park All Ready for It, and Aristoeratic Surroundings.

If plans now maturing come to a successful culmination, as there is rea-son to believe they will, Los Angeles will soon possess the one great needful thing—a palatial tourist hotel. The promoters of this enterprise are sanguine of merited success and have the project so well under way as to give hopes that it, unlike preceding similar attempts, may result successfully. The present proposition is much like one that was exploited about three years ago, but as the only thing that then militated against the building of he hotel has been removed there is to apparent reason why it cannot go

It is an ambitious project, the building of an elegant caravansary in a well-chosen situation, and one that will have a great bearing upon the future of Los Angeles. The site in view is in the eextnsive grounds of Judge Slient, on Adams street, an ideal place for a hotel that should offer to tourists the attractions they seek in Southern California. The extensive grounds, comprising fourteen acres of highly-developed park, greensward, rare trees of mammoth growth, flower beds of choicest plants, have long been the chief show place of Los Angeles, and through the demesne of a private citizen have been considered semi-public. All citizens have taken pride in Adams street and the beautiful lawn and trees of the Slient place, and thither all visiting strangers are guided for a view of a spot that charms all the senses.

The proposition is to build in these

The proposition is to build in these grounds in such a manner as to preserve from the ax the magnificent trees that yield a grateful shade, a beautiful hotel, of a style befitting the country and the aristocratic surroundings, that will be the pride of citizens and the merce of strangers who for a second

Previously Hit the Mark.

(New York Mercury:) Over forty years ago an old German hermit published in a Bavarian paper a curious prophecy. In it he foretold the Austro-Russian and Franco-Russian wars, the death of Pope Pius and the Turko-Russian debate at arms. He said that Germany would have three Emperors in one year before the end of the century, and indicated the death of two United States Presidents by assassination. All these things have come to pass. In the same article he said that when the twentieth century opens great seismic disturbances will take place, which will cause the submersion of New York city and the western half of the city of Havana. Cuba is to break in two, while Florida and Lower California are to suffer total extinction. The shock of these earthquakes will raze buildings to the ground in almost every city on the continent; millions of lives and billions of dollars' worth of property will be lost.

There is to be a change in economic conditions of almost every civilized nation. He foretells the growth of a democratic spirit in England, which will result in a revolution that will overthrow the present form of government and make the country a republic. He says the last ruler of England will the the best the country ever had, and the first president of the new nation will income of the royal family.

in a recent speech the Prince of Wales said it is his desire to live to see England a republic. According to the hermit, Russia. France and Italy will form an alliance, and will enter into war with Turkey. This war is to be the outgrowth of Turkish persecution of Christian subjects. The triple alliance will conquer the domain of the sick man of the East. At the expiration of the war complications will arise which will plunge Italy and France into war with Russia. The result will be that the two countries will be gobbled up by the northern power, and will cease to exist as independent nations. While war is being waged between them the pope will move the seat of Catholicism from Rome to some town in Southern Ireland.

A rebellion will take place in the land of the shamrock, in which the country will become independent of England Then a conflict will arise between the ultra-Catholics of the south of Ireland and the ultra-Protestants of the north in which the southerns will be victors A kingdom will be established, and it is predicted that the reign of the first potentate will become historic for its tyranny.

potentate will become historic for its tyranny.

The prophet paints a dark future for the United States. He says at the close of the century a feeling of unress will seize the people. This feeling will be the outgrowth of unequal social and economic conditions. He predicts that the twenty-fifth President will be the last executive head of the United States During his administration the discontented masses will break into open rebellion, and the established form or government will be rent asunder, and for a year or more anarchy will prevail When order shall be brought out of chaos six republics will be formed with capitals at the following cities: San Francisco, Denver, New Orleans St. Louis, Washington and Boston.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE PREPARA-

TION OF RAMIE FIBER. TION OF RAMIE FIBER.

The extension of the uses of ramia fiber has been very much interfered with by the need of a process which would bring it into fit condition for combing. W. T. Ford, an Englishman, is said to have solved the problem, and has exhibited specimenes of the fiber before and after being subjected to his process, and also showing it in different stages up to the manufactured article, both alone and in conjunction with other yarns. The nature of the liquid used is kept secret. In the center of the machine, which has a cylinder seven feet in diameter, and thirty-two feet in length, is a heater, with a man-hole at each end. The fiber is placed in baskets, each containing eight pounds, and these are put into the holes at the end of the apparatus until there are 2000 pounds on each side, so that a total of 4000 pounds weight is dealt with at one time. As soon as all the material is inserted, the machine is sealed and a gum solution is let into it. This is put in circulation by means of a pump, and sprayed over the baskets containing the grass. This process, it is said, makes the rame ready for bleaching in two hours, and the bleaching itself occupies about sixty seconds. When bleached, the fiber is ready for combing, and it is contended that in the course of the preparation for that stage, the grass has suffered no injury, while the resinous matter has been effectually removed.

A LARGE NAPHTHA LAUNCH.

A naphtha launch, which is claimed to be the largest of its class in the world, has been built in New York. In it are embodied some very peculiar, but very practical ideas. It is intended for cruising in Florida waters. The length of this craft is 76 feet over all, by 12 feet 6 inches beam, with only 3 feet draught. She is of cedar, with oak frames, and copper fastened, and has an overhanging bow and square stern. The engines have a fuel supply sufficient for a run of 500 miles at a speed of nine knots an hour. She is, however, equipped with a single mast, which will carry a try-sall, and can be used as an auxiliary, or when it is necessary to economize fuel. The engines are operated by one man, and the crew comprises only the captain, engineer, and cook. Besides these, the new boat will comfortably accommodate six or eight guests. Her propelling power consists of two twelve-horse-power naphha motors, arranged to operate entirely independent of each other, so that in an emergency either or both may be used. The available space for the accommodation of the owner is equal to that of a steam yacht 100 feet in length, and as it is not disintegrated, it can be used to better advantage. There is a saloon and dining-room forward, also two staterooms, one with single and one with double berths. The interior finish is in whitewood. All windows and ports are provided with inside blinds, with fine wire screens, to prevent the intrusion of the insects, which do so much to mar a pleasure trip in the South. There is extra provision for ventilation, and other arrangements to adapt the boat for Southern waters.

THE LOW MARRIAGE RATE OF COLLEGE WOMEN. A LARGE NAPHTHA LAUNCH.

THE LOW MARRIAGE RATE OF shown at its true length. Such a sitter should be placed somewhat below the level of the lens. In the case of a high forchead and diminutive lower face, the treatment should be the reverse. It is not at all uncommon in a photograph taken with the head about three-quarters around, to see the far eye and eyebrow standing out abruptly and the mouth drooping at the further side. This while unsatisfactory from many points, is a direct violation of what the true perspective would give in a well-formed face. A line drawn in the direction of the eyes should converge to one giving the direction of the mouth. Wherever divergence is imminent, an effort should be made to avoid the defect. Portrait photographers are recommended to give careful study to the engravings of portraits by the eminent English portrait painters. In addition to the admirable disposition of the light upon the face of the sitters, it will be found that most minute attention has been given to the various shadow to the highest reflected lights. CARBON COPIES FOR COURT USE CONDEMNED.

There is joy in the camp of the New York typwriters. On COLLEGE WOMEN The ultimate probability of a college

ing counsel, a copy for the court, and a copy for the lawyer who drew the papers. Where several lawyers represent one party, the number of copies has to be increased. It is seldom, however, that more copies are required than can be struck off with one impression of the type with carbon sheets. The new rule that only the first impression will be taken has put the typewriters who are in business for themselves in high spirits, and the increase of work brought to stenographers and lawyers, and even to the clerks of the court is great. The rule, which is supposed to have been made in consonance with a section of the which is supposed to have been made in consonance with a section of the chemicals from which it is put up, namely in a compressed state in steel cylinders, for use in private houses. IMPROVEMENT IN THE PREPARA-TONN OF AMME RIPPED AND THE PREP on these cylinders is over forty atmospheres. Prof. Love said he did not share the bright hopes which had been expressed of the future of acetylene gas, and he did not expect to live long enough to see it produced cheaply enough to compete with ordinary coal gas, or even to be used to any extent profitably in enriching water gas for ordinary consumption. He felt sure that even the scheme of utilizing Niagara Falls would not result in bringing down the cost of calcium carbide production to anything like $10 a ton. He did not see how it could now be produced at a cost under $20 a ton. Furthermore, the professor said, he had not succeeded in his laboratory experiments in producing acetylene with an illuminating power as high as that attributed to it.

Decidedly Novel.

(Minneapolis Journal:) The Los Angeles Times has hit upon a new scheme for advertising itself. It is decidedly novel. It has had constructed for its business office a counter built of a great variety of woods brought from a great many sources. For instance, the counter contains a piece of wood from Admiral Farragut's flagship Hartford; from the Confederate privateer Shenandoah; from the steamship Senator and other famous vessels; a piece of wood from Sutter's Fort; woods from the City of Mexico, from the English frigate Somerset, from the battlefield of Droop Mountain, from the bedstead on which Abraham Lincoln died, from the first block house built in the United States, from the Douglas room in Sterling Castle, Scotland; pieces of the historic elm of Boston Common; olive wood from the Garden of Gethsemane and from "Bethelem of Judea;" also from many of the famous old California missions. The workmanship is very unique and handsome, and the historic counter of the Times office is one of the sights of the city of Los Angeles. Decidedly Novel.

Gakersfield Californian:) A gentleman residing in this city was visiting Los Angeles recently and while there called at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Almost the first sight that greeted his eyes was a collection of oranges labeled in large letters, "Tejon oranges." He inspected the entire display in the building and says that without being governed by local sympathy it is a fact that these were the finest oranges in the "tire exhibit. They attracted a great deal of attention, and many were the questions asked as to the locality whence they came.

From this one instance it is evident that if Kern county desires to attract attention to herself she could do no better thing than maintain a Permanent exhibit, either at Los Angeles or San Teion Oranges at Los Angeles.

At a meeting of prominent citizens of Los Angeles, held at the Chamber of Commerce on January 30, 1896, the un-dersigned were appointed a committee to consider the subject of constructing dersigned were appointed a committee to consider the subject of constructing a tourist hotel on the property of Judges Silent on Adams street in this city, and if we considered the project feasible, to take the necessary steps to accomplish that object. We have carefully considered the subject, and believe that a first-class tourist hotel can be constructed upon the site named if the business men and property-holders of this city will give it the encouragement that the project deserves. All concede the immediate necessity for, and the great benefits to be derived from such a hotel in our midst. The business interests of our city are annually losing large sums, estimated to amount to millions of dollars, which would be expended by people who either do not come to the State at all, or who pass by our door because we have not the class of hotel accommodations which they demand and are willing to pay for. This community has never yet undertaken to systematically utilize the advantages which our climate afrords. It is an everlasting and unfalling crop, which, with a little intelligent attention and a small expenditure of money, can be made a source of large and continuous profits. It is reported that at the recent international Silver Conference held in Bejgium, the Italian representative was asked if Italy contained any gold mines. He said yes, the American tourists produced to his country annually over $59,000,000 in gold. Derelict Speet Commissioners Squaring Accounts with the City.

The sup of $65.90 was yesterday paid into the city treasury by certain street commissioners, who were found, upon a recent investigation, to have appropriate to themselves moneys upon a ricent investigation, to have appropriated to themselves moneys not properly their own.

It will be remembered that City Attorney Dunn was instructed by the Council to collect from these commissioners the money due the city and, in accordance with these directions, notice was given each commissioner to meet the City Attorney in his office yesterday morning.

Of thirteen men thus notified, eleven responded, and, after a short consultation with the City Attorney, agreed to return the moneys which the City Auditor's report calls for. The following commissioners went at once to City Treasurer Hartwell and paid to him the money due from them:

W. T. Myels, $24.95; J. Bayer, $13.50; Robert Pollard, $7.50; N. E. Davisson, $7.50; M. T. Collins, $12.50.

Report Received Exènerating De-Police Commissioner Long, as chairman of the ommittee appointed to inwan of the committee appointed to vestigate charges made by R. J. Colver, a reporter, against Detective Goodman, presented to the Police Commission yesterday a copy of the following re-port in the matter:

"To the Ionorable Board of Police

ommissioners: Having been appointed

Commissioners: Having been appointed by your hotorable body to investigate the charges preferred against Detective J. G. Goodman by Richard Colver, we wish to report as follows:

"First charge—Richard Colver claims that J. G. Boddman got into an argument with him in regard to the arrest of one C. G. Compton, and that Goodman struck him, which, by the way, was settled by the court.

"Second—That J. G. Goodman arrested C. G. Compton without warrant or due

C. G. Compton without warrant or due process of any court. We find by inves-tigation that Detective Goodman had process of any court. We find by investigation that Detective Goodman had sufficient evidence in making the arrest. A man by the name of Wenzel was passing forged checks, and Compton was associating with him in visiting saloons and other places. Wenzel passed a check en a salon-keeper on South Main stret. Compton was in company with him at the time. The saloon-keeper told him that he thought it was a forgery, but that he would give them a few dollars on the check to get rid of them, as they said they wanted to go to Burbank. In fact, Compton had a forged check on his person when he was arrested. Under the circumstances Goodman had sufficient evidence in making the arrest without a warrant. Compton would not have been released had not the check ten misplaced. Compton was rearrested when the check was found, and is now out on ball on the same charge.

"Third—In regard to the Italian from Ventura. Goodman positively denies making such arrest." Fourth—in annuary, 1894. Goodman is charged with arresting one John Peterson (who had been erving a term in arrested the boy once, and he is now serving time in San Quentin for burglary.

"Fifth—James Norman, the jeweler, who was arrested by Goodman, was not arrested for having stolen property on his person, but was arrested for resisting an officer, and the case is now pending in court.

"We find it necessary for detectives and other officers to make arrests almost every day, on suspicion, without warrants." For instance, a detective has, a suspicious character spotted on the streets, and he would have to wait until he could get a warrant. The bird would be gone. Take for illustration our last flests. Our officers arrested about forty suspicious characters without warrants, and the consequence was there were scarcely any pockets picked during the flests week. But we would say, the officers should be very careful about arresting citisens without warrants, unless they have a clear case against them. The parties arrested should have the privilege of communicating with their friends or an attorney. In regard to preferring charges and putting the names of parties arrested should have the privilege of communicating with their friends or an attorney. In regard to preferring charges and putting the names of parties arrested on suspicion on the register, it is not done in any city, as the reporters would report them, and, in case they were others connected with them, they would either hige or leave the city, which would spoil the plans of the detectives. But the above cases are all registered in a private book, the names they give and what they are arrested for, etc.

"We will also state that after investigation we find that J. G. Goodman has made a good detective, and is a hard worker He may at times be a little too anxious, and make mistakes, which any one is liable to do.

"The committee is opposed to the detention of any citizens longer than is necessary to obtain a warrant—except in certain cases."

A communication was received by the hoard from a firm of attorneys, representing owners or lesses of certain "orib" property on Alameda street, in which the charge was made that some portion of the streets are under police surveillance, while the cribs owned or operated by Theodore Bauer are not molested by the police.

In explanation of this charge, Chief Glass stated that Commissioners Long, Barham and Wirsching had instructed him privately to break up the visiting by men of cribs on Alameda street, and it was in accordance with these instructions that officers had been stationed on the street. Bauer's cribs were not molested because they have been removed from the street in obedience to the Police Commissioners' orders. This explanation was deemed satisfactory by the board, and the communication from the attorneys was filed by the secretary.

Epd of the Pennybaker and Braly

The suit of Pennebaker vs. Braly, brought to annul the sale of stock in a New Mexico coal mine, sold to the plaintiff on alleged fraudulent repre-plaintiff on alleged fraudulent representations by the defendant, came to an abrupt ending yesserday in a judgment for the defendant with costs.

After the evidence was all in, the attorney for Pennebaker rose to open his argument, but he was stopped by Judge Van Dyke, who declined to hear a word. His Henor then proceeded to deliver a somewhat coustic lecture from the bench, in which he declared that the plaintiff had failed to prove a single one of his allegations, and that the defendant was fully cleared from all blame in the transaction.

the transaction. ne transaction.

The story of the case is briefly this The story of the case is briefly this:
Some time ago A. H. Braly, Jack Jevne, H. G. Bundrem and some others, hecame interested in a coal mine in New Mexico which promised well. The broperty was purchased, and the Los Angeles Coal Company was formed. Subsequently Mr. Braly, acting as agent for C. N. Randolph sold to Mr. Pennebaker quite a large amount of stock, representing that the property was worth, to the best of his belief, about $7000, but frankly saying that he relied purely upon the statements of others, having never seen the mine himself.
Mr. Pennebaker bought the stock on this understanding, and through Mr.
Braly's influence, was elected vicepresident, a director and general mand ager of the company, and was allotted a liberal salary. A few months afterwards he was requested to resign from the post of general manager, having made what the company considered a sale of stock cancelled, and his money returned.

Mr.Braly assured him that, in making the sale, he had acted merely as Randolph's agent, and now had no power to rescind it or to return the money, which was in Randolph's possession. According to Mr. Braly's side of the case, Pennebaker then threatened suit, assuring Mr. Braly that he should bring it on the basis of alleged fraud, and telling him that he could not afford, as a young banker, to have his name brought before the public in such a manner. Mr. Braly sought the advice of his father, J. H. Braly, who directed him to defend the suit when it should be brought, and trust to the judgment of the court.

Pennebaker, it is said, went afterward to Mr. Braly, Sr., with the same representations that he and his son could not afford to be implicated in a suit for fraud, but Mr. Braly requested him to go ahead with the suit, and emphatically declined to compromise, or to advise his son to do so.

The suit was brought, and the result is that every allegation in the complaint was defeated, and the mine, proven by abundant evidence to be worth from $30,000 to $50,000, instead of under $10,000, as originally believed and represented.

Another Victim of the Deadly Cigarette Habit.

Wong Ki Tung was on trial in the United States District Court yesterday on the charge of trying to defraud Un-cle Sam by selling manufactured to-bacco on which the government stamp bacco on which the government stamp had not been placed.

with silk until the tassel on the end dangled on the ground. He listened with much interest to the testimony elicited.

Wong Ki Tung is an artist in the tonsorial line whose studio is in a little cellar in the front part of a building in the Chinese quarter of Fresno. Behind the barber shop is a room belonging to Wong Ki Tung and another room in which are built little bunks which are occupied nightly by Chinamen who work by day in the vineyards around Fresno. The government claims that Wong Ki Tung is the proprietor of the three rooms. The defense declares that Wong Ki Tung is responsible only for the two front ones. Upon this question the whole case depends, for it was in the back room the officers found the boxes of unstamped cigarettes and the tobacco-cutter for possessing which the Chinaman is under arrest.

The cigarettes were produced in court. There were three big paper boxes, all full of little bunches of oddly-shaped Chinese cigarettes—110 packages in all. The defense claims that the Chinamen who bunk in the cellar bought a lot of tobacco on which the internal revenue tax had been duly paid, and rolled a lot of cigarettes for their own use—a sort of cooperative affair. Deputy Constable Bosqui testified that this was a common practice among the Mongolians. Deputy Constable Dumas of Fresno testified that he had often seen the Chinamen who dwell in Wong Ki Tung's cellar rolling cigarettes. The prosecution claimed that Wong Ki Tung intended to sell the cigarettes. But whether he intended to sell them or not, said the prosecuting attorney, Wong Ki Tung violated the law by having unstamped manufactured to-bacco in his possession. So the main question before the jury isas to whether of not Wong Ki Tung is responsible for the whole of that cellar.

The whole day was taken up with the consideration of the case, and so the case will not go to the jury until some time today.

THE NEWSBOYS' HOME.

NEW AND COMMODIOUS BUILDING

sent Quarters of the Boys—An Old House in a Bad Neighbor-hood—Happy Family of Young-sters—How They Live.

Down amid the slums of Los Angeles a large, bare, somewhat dilapidated building stands in the center of a goodsized yard, and in all the rooms and corridors, and over the trodden earth of the garden, swarm crowds of boys. merry, shabby little gamins, some of them, and others shooting up into them, and others shooting up into young manhood. This is the present Newsboys' Home. The house is the old Ducommun mansion, once a handsome house in a respectable neighborhood, but now gone to seed, like the houses and streets around it; left behind in the southward and westward sweep of but now gone to seed, like the houses and streets around it; left behind in the southward and westward sweep of the city.

Here lives Miss Howes, the sweet-faced matron in charge of the home, and here live nearly all the homeless newsboys in Los Angeles, a regular "happy family," noisy and turbulent at times, but free from serious troubles, and as well-behaved as an unfettered collection of the glorious human boy oan be expected to be.

The nucleus of the home was formed some seven years ago by Mr. Studd, a benevolent Englishman, who took enough interest in the little waifs to start a reading-room for them. The idea was seized upon with avidity by the boys, who flocked to the little room, and eagerly devoured the books and magazines they found there. All was going well, when a new difficulty sprang up. The boys wanted to stay all night. Too many of them had nowhere to go after leaving the comfortable reading-room, and it was hard to turn them but into the streets, to curl up in such corners as they could find.

Mr. Studd took Mrs. Drain and Mrs. Shinkwin into the scheme, and among them they managed to rent a small house on Main street, where the little fellows were given shelter. The house soon grew so popular that it became too small to hold the number of its lodgers. The kindly people who had charge of the little home moved to No. 319 East First street, but that, in its turn, became too small to accommodate the boys, and the old Ducommun mansion was rented, that the youngsters might have room to turn around, in the house, and a large yard for the out-of-door romping and exercise dear to the boy-ish heart.

This is their present home, but it is again overflowing, and those who are interested in the charity are exceedingly anxious to buy a house at No. 526 Wall street, upon which they have been given an option. By the efforts of charitable people, $1500 of the $4000 required has already been subscribed, and unceasing efforts are being made to raise the remaining $2500.

The purchase of this property will not on able.

Every room is plentifully adorned with cigarette pictures and other specimens of high art, and one youthful Rembrandt, with a patriotic turn, has drawn a truly remarkable pencil sketch of George Washington. The fact of the States of his Country is somewhat the shape of a coffin lid, and his features are slightly mixed, but he is recognizable by his curied wig, uniform and the name over the top of the picture, as well as by the fact that two small flags, evidently intended as an appro-priate background, are apparently sticking out of each ear of the immor-priate background, are apparently sticking out of each ear of the immortal George, and that the entire sketch is patriotically framed in stripes of bunting torn from an old flag.

Altogether it is a happy and sturdy crew of boys that is gathered under the weather-beaten roof of the old Ducommun mansion—boys that may yet take rank among the foremost men of the nation if they are given a fair show. However tough they may be on the street, they are well-behaved at home, and it is very seldom that Miss Howes has any trouble with them.

Los Angeles, in her prosperity, can surely raise the pairry $2500 required to give this coming army of voters a pleasant and commodious home, where they will have the advantages of pleasant surrounding; some measure of refinement and a chance at home education. It is worth the effort, for the charity is one that will repay in full measure of good and useful citizenship of the future, all the time and money expended upon it now.

HOUSE BURNED.

A little before 1 p.m. today the house ocupied by I. U. Parker on North Fair Oaks avenue was discovered on fir and despite all efforts to save the build ing it was totally destroyed. The loss is about $1700, insured for $1000. Mrs. Parker had put her dinner to cook on the gasoline stove and went upstairs to dress. While thus engaged a woman to dress. While thus engaged a wontan who occupied rooms on the lower floor opened a door into the kitchen and found the room all ablaze. She gave the alarm, and she and Mrs. Parker tried in vain to put out the fire. Mrs. Parker was delayed in making her escape from the house by her effort t save a canary bird, and by breaking window she severely cut her hands. Her companion was slightly burned by the flames before she had recovered some of her personal property. The building was owned by Bert Caldwell of South Riverside.

SUBLIME IMPUDENCE.

The Salvation Army Objects to the

This evening while the Salva-tion Army was holding forth on the corner the street-sweeper came along as usual to take up the day's collection of dust from the pavement. The driver of the sweaper wanted a right-of-way along the gutter where he was required to go, but the valliant soldiers of the army, emboldened by their long required to go, but the valliant soldiers of the army, em'soldened by their long occupation of the city, thought they could continue to have everything their own way. As the sweeper driver would not turn out and refrain from disturbing the holy howiers, and thus leave a dirty spot on the pavement, one of the soldiers, a man named Bell, undertook to compel the recognition of the army's right to the street. He grasped the bridle of the horses and essayed the bridle of the horses and essayed to lead the animals on a course that not require his compatriots to The protestations of the driver policeman appeared upon the scene and gathered the warrior in for disturbance. Bell was later released on $10

The managers of the De Mar & Co. artist factory have gone away, neglecting the customary ceremonials of fare well and without even leaving their new address. The exposure of the out-fit's methods was too much for De Mar & Co., and, as the field of gullibles had been pretty well worked over, it was thought best to let it lie fallow for a while, while paying attention to newer if not richer pastures.

which is the speechless tribute of a great assemblage to the utterances of a master mind.

It is doubtful if the distinguished Ohioan ever addressed timself to such a magnificent gathering with more marked effect. To acknowledge the charm of his personality and the silent eloquence of his splendid physione is but to recognize one of the immutable laws of human nature, which prompts the willing tribute of popular intelligence to men who harmonize within themselves a certain symmetry of physical development with lofty ideals of character and high thinking. It was a favorite contention of Webster's that there are three essentials of true oratory—the theme, the occasion and the man. No grander theme could move to utterance the lips of cloquence than the achievements of the illustrious Illiniosan, whose birthagt the ceremonial commemorated. No life in human history furnishes such a wealth of those homely attributes of courage and unwavering devotion that evoke the homage of the common people. No life was so full of momentous and thrilling incident. This was the theme.

The occasion was also one to inspire the deepest emotions of patriotism, It would have touched with enthusiasm the most unresponsive and indifferent mind. Held under the auspices of the leading Republicans of Chicago, surrounded by several hundred guests of more or less party renown, there was nothing wanting in the spectacle to stimulate the speakers to the highest forensic climax.

And the man. He came from the State that has earliched the glorious and the birded thas earliched the glorious and the birded to be the great steed of the city wharf, where a strong light will be placed, and some imagent in the spectacle to stimulate the speakers to the highest forensic climax.

like Lincoln, he has "kept close to the McKinley's conception of true Republicanism.

While there may be dissent from Mr. McKinley's advanced protection views, there will be none from his vigorous assertion of the Monroe doctrine, and little as to his advocacy of a genuine reciprocity. On the money question, too, he utters no uncertain sound. Without mincing words or pottering with details he went to the very marrow of the question when he said: "The Republican party would as soon think of lowering the flag of our country as to contemplate with patience or without protest and opposition any at-

in the past, to supply the country with the best money ever known, gold, silver and paper, good the world over."

No wonder the hall rang with plaudits at this emphatic declaration for honest money. Let it once be understood that to debase our currency is to dishonor our flag, and the nation will be as one man for honest money, "good the world over."

Although delivered in commemoration of the life and character of a great and venerated Republican leader, many of Mr. McKinley's utterances upon issues that now confront the people were so marked in their apt significance that it is safe to say they will form the keynote of the coming Republican national campaign.

New Bicycle Fashion.

The newest thing in bicycle fashions is to have the coloring of the wheel to harmonize or even match with the costume worn by the bicycliste. Quite a rage for colored machines seems to have set in, and dark blue, red, pale blue, yellow, cream color, white. brown and even pink ones have been observed during the last two or three weeks. All the light-painted ones, except white, strike one as exceedingly absurd. One strikingly handsome woman, noticed riding in New York the other day, was dressed in a very-smartly-made gown of rough white serge. The skirt fell admirably over the wheel, and the bodice had short, full basques that took away slightly from the effect of breadth in the back. The front opened slightly over a neat waistcoat of smooth white cloth, fastened with small, gilt buttons, and the throat was encircled by a narrow band of ermine. A smart toque, also of ermine, was trimmed only with a tall, black aigrette, and white doeskin gloves and black patent shoes with white gaiters were worn. The wheel on which this dainty costume was mounted was also white, with fine black lines, and the fittings all of dazzling nickel. The saddle was white leather, as also was the little pocket slung at the back.

Another pretty costume was of blue granite cloth, with Eton coat faced with white. The skirt, which fitted perfectly over the hips, hung very gracefully and quite evenly on either side of the bicycle, which in this instance was painted dark blue. A white felt hat, trimmed with white wings, was worn with this costume. A coat and skirt of dull terra cotta cloth, with velvet collar. looked well. THE BOND ISSUE. According to Bradstreet's, the recent bond issue was, after all, not so much of a popular loan as is generally supposed. On the final distributions of the amounts the syndicate composed of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., the Deutsche Bank, the National City Bank of New York and Messrs. Fisk & Sons received only and Messrs. Fisk & Sons received only $33,000,000 instead of the 50 to 60 per sa,000,000 instead of the oto to be occur, of the total amount they were expected to take. Most of the other successful bidders, to whom the remaining two-thirds of the issue was alloted, comprised bankers, banks, foreign houses, corporations and firms more or less identified with the money market and its operations.

Commenting upon these facts, Bradstreet's says:

"The salient feature is that individual subscribers, in small amounts, applied for and received only $2,000,000 odd out of the whole amount. There were doubtless, many more bids of this character among those who named a price below that of the Morgan syndicate's offer of 110.6877 for any part of the $100,000,000, and were, therefore, excluded in the allotment; but it is believed that the proportion of such tenders to the amount of 'the loan would hold good as regards the volume of all the bids."

ORANGES AND LEMONS AFLOAT. The quantity of Mediterranean oranges affoat destined for United States ports has materially decreased since the report of the quantity afloat published in this column last week. The last advices show there are only 62,450 boxes of oranges now on the way from Mediterranean ports as against 72,400 boxes the previous week. Of these 53,300 boxes are for New York, 1250 for Baltimore, 6300 for Philadelphia and 1600 for New Orleans. The quantity of oranges now being shipped from Spanish ports is very insignificant, the great bulk of the fruit coming from Messina and Palermo. has materially decreased since the fruit coming from Messina and Palermo.

The quantity of Mediterranean lemons on the way shows a very considerable increase in the quantity reported last week. There are at the present time 178,000 boxes on the way for United States Atlantic ports as against 146,000 last week. This is an increase of 32,800 boxes. Of this total large quantity 115,500 boxes are for New York, 13,500 for Boston, 9000 for Baltimore, 11,000 for Philadelphia, and 30,000 for New Orleans. The dried fruit reported to arrive comprises 2200 boxes of Sultana raisins and 2950 tons of currents.

ADULTERATION OF FOOD. Few people who have not investigated the subject have any suspicion of the extent to which the adulteration of foods is carried. The Connecticut Experiment Station at New Haven has analyzed about seven hundred articles of food to ascertain the extent of adulteration practiced. The report shows that about one in every four articles of food is adulterated, coffee being more generally adulterated than anything else. Out of over two hundred samples examined, most of them were found to contain spurious matter. The result of this investigation will undoubtedly lead to stringent legislation on the subject. Dealers as well as consumers are directly interested in doing the utmost to discourage such a condition of affairs as now exists. ADULTERATION OF FOOD. Few

The Bicycle Not a Fad.

That the bicycle is no flitting fad but is destined to be the great steed of man in the twentieth century, it needs no prophet to predict. American manufacturers alone produced a grand sum total of 450,000 bicycles during the past year, and an output of 800,000, or nearly double 1896's record, is confidently estimated by them for this new year, Whatever the future of the bicycle, it seems to have become already for its makers the new wheel of fortune.

ton, samples of various textile fabrics woven from peat fibers, and said to closely resemble Scotch tweed and camel's hair. It was stated that these specimens were received from the United States Consul at Havre, France, and indicated the industrial possibilities of that material. Certain claims were made for fabrics made from this fiber, in that it could be bleached to a snowy whiteness and take unto itself any dye, especial advantage being claimed for the cloth for its antiseptic character and freedom from harboring disease germs. The item excited our curiosity sufficient for us to write to the State Department for samples of the fabrics, and seven samples were sent to us for our examination and return. We found the fabrics very much as described, so far as exterior appearance went, they having the effect of Scotch goods, and some of them the feel of camel's hair goods. Some of the samples were woven with a cotton warp, others with materials similar to the weft. They were all coarse goods made with yarn under one run fine, and woven in plain and twilled effects. All of the colors were dull, but possessed more or less attractiveness considering the material used. We found, however, upon a microscopic analysis, that the goods were not made wholly of peat, as we were led to believe by the items in the daily press. Far from it. That peat was used in their fabrication is undoubtedly true, but probably not more than one-fifth to one-third of the weight of the fabrics consisted of this material. The exact proportional quantity, of course, could have been ascertained by chemical analysis, which we did not have time to institute."

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Reaction was the order of the day's stock speculation, the initiative coming from London, where a lower market for American securities was reported. Estimates of foreign seiling in this market changed from $10,000 to $15,000. The bear element detected indications of liquidation and pressed the market to the fullest practicable extent. The Industrials assumed the leadership in point of activity. The foreign seiling of the International shares referred to caused lower prices on the New York Stock Exchange and the seconcessions in values wechange and the seconcessions in values wechange and the seconcessions in values were and the seconcessions in the second prices of the first hour. The improvements were short-lived, as a renewal of aggressive tactics by the traders brought about a selling movement at mid-day, in which most of the raily was lost. Manhattan dropped 2 per cent. The official stalement of the treasury gold reserve, showing an excess of $23,523,378 over the $100,000 limit, an increase of over $15,000,000 from yeserday's figures, had some effect in causing improvement around 1 o'clock. Later weakness was felt in the market parity on account of the news of the defeat of the Dingley revenue bill in the United States Senate. This started a selling movement along the lines in which declines up to 1 per cent. were secored with Sugar and the grangers were the sufferers. The closing was heavy in tone, with severe net losses in some shares and fractional declines general. The early dealings in railway bonds were attended by decreased activity, but a firm tone prevailed. In the late session, however, marked heaviness was displayed in Atchison and Northern Pacific, which was in turn communicated to the other securities and caused a depression in tone at the close. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Wheat had another strong opening because of the Liverpool opening showing another advance of %d and to the operators having carried over from the previous day good for full from the previous day good for full from the grandered by yesterday's news. The strength at Liverpool, it was afterward discovered, was not all due to the previous day's advance here, but also to the fact that further news from Argentine showed that the damage to the wheat crop there was of such a serious character as to promise a reduction of the exportable surplus to about 15,000,000 bushels. This added materially to the strength of this market. The Northwestern receipts were heavier by 116 cars than on the corresponding day of the week before, and that, with the world's heavy shipments, caused some decline after the early bulge, but the Argentine news already referred to, and a further %d advance reported by the second Liverpool cablegram. A COFFIN-MAKER GONE CRAZY O nglng Between Champions Two Religious Sects - Contract for a City Water Plant - Bad Guess of Surveyors-News Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 25,-(Regular Con respondence.) Religion has come to the front here within a day or two in a front here within a day or two in a manner rather startling to conservative people. A devotee of Christian Science, John Isele, a carpenter occupied in the construction of coffins, has "got re-ligion" on the brain. Early on Monday morning he jumped out of bed, shout-"I'm saved; but all the rest of you damned." When his faithful wife endeavored to restrain him he jumped out of the window and ran through the city. He secured a club and threatened out of the window and ran through the city. He secured a club and threatened to kill any one who approached. The police finally captured John, placed him in a padded cell and later he was committed to Highland.

The second instance of religious enthusiasm is the discussion between the leaders of the Unitarian and Episcopalian brethren. The Unitarian leader remarked that the belief of his church was the only one that would save editors and other professional men. He said under no other form of religion (but Unitarian) is there any hope of salvation for these people, (editors, law-yers, judges, teachers, physicians,) not because they were more wicked than other people, but because they could not possibly accept the creeds which in other churches were deemed essential to salvation.

other people, but because they could not possibly accept the creeds which in other churches were deemed essential to salvation.

Dean Restarick takes exception to the Unitarian brother and publicly announces that two-thirds of the signers of the Deciration of Independence were Episcopalians, According to the dean Benjamin Franklin was a vestryman. But Benjamin is supposed to have become a vestryman after having served as a journeyman printer in London. It would have scarcely been possible for this pioneer printer and journalist to have made a satisfactory vestryman during his first sojourn in London. Ben few a little high in those days. The outcome of this discussion as to which is the best church for editors is awaited with interest.

The Common Council voted on Monday night to have a contract drawn up for a jotty water plant which shall embrace the Morena reservoir. The company desirous of securing the contract finnes this change of plan can be brought about for $1,500,000. The people having the interests of the city in charge do not appear to know where Capps on the cost of the system which includes the United States of the system which includes the ways ago, shows a discrepancy of twelve miles of this system, made a few days ago, shows a discrepancy of twelve miles in the first survey. If this allegation is true it indicates a shameful carelessness on the part of the official surveyors, which should be investigated. If the authorities cannot prepare an estimate of a city water line and come nearer than should be investigated. If the authorities cannot prepare an estimate of a city water line and come nearer than twelve miles of the true line, the taxpayers should know it. The motion adopted by the Council to have the new contract submitted to the committee of the whole, instead of the Joint Water Committee, of which Joseph Bachman, the A.R.U. leader, is chairman causes comment. Bachman adopted by the Council to have the new contract submitted to the committee of the whole, instead of the Joint Water Committee, of which Joseph Bachman, the A.R.U. leader, is chairman, causes comment. Bachman, who is regarded as a friend of Babcock, opposed the motion. This apparent opposition does not fool anybody.

Justice Gammili has held Frank Sands, editor of the Daily News, on his personal recognizance for his appearance in the Superior Court to answer the charge of criminal libel preferred against him by William La Vies, editor of the Daily Independent. Some months ago an article appeared in the News charging La Vies with having formed a conspiracy, with other newspaper men, to defraud and rob the county of some $2000, and upon this La Vies had Frank Sands and G. P. Tibbetts arrested for criminal libel. Justice Gammill dismissed the suit against Tibbetts.

In the matter of Shiappa Pietra vs. Goux, the court has sustained the demurrer, and given leave to the plaintiff to file an amended complaint. The defendant has twenty days in which to file his answer. This is the case in which Miss Schiappa Pietra sues Mr. Goux for $10,000 damages for failure to marry the plaintiff at the time agreed upon.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 25.—(Regular correspondence.) The second mass-meeting to select a candidate for City Trustee and make arrangements for election was held Monday evening. Late in the afternoon City Trustees Lawson and Frith issued a dodger, in which they stated that they would not be bound by any action the people might take on the question of selecting a member of the Board of Trustees. The circulation of this dodger caused considerable feeling among those who insisted on the rights of the people to select.

caused considerable feeling among those who insisted on the rights of the people to select a representative, the Trustees having found it impossible to do so, and led to some very pointed talk at the meeting and on the streets, the word dictators being very generally used.

The meeting was attended by about two hundred people, of whom considerably over half were voters in the Second Ward, from which a Trustee is wanted.

F. F. Oster was chosen chairman and R. C. Harbison secretary. Speeches were made by R. E. Bledsoe, Attorney Hutchins and C. C. Haskell, in which Messrs. Lawson and Frith were severely criticised.

The following officers of the election to be held under direction of the citizens were chosen: Judges, C. N. Damron, John Barton; clerks, Hall Curtis, R. F. Garner, C. E. Dunscombe. It was decided to hold the election on March 2, from sunrise till 5 p.m.

C. C. Haskell, R. C. Harbison and R. E. Nørton were appointed a committee to arrange for ballot boxes and ballots.

EARL AND THE EXCHANGE. There is a peculiar termination to the controversy which has been going on in the Highland Exchange. As noted in this column, there has been a serious contest between factions, one of which was in rebellion against the managers of the general exchange. This continued until the association was granted the special privilege of selling its own fruit f.o.b., independent of the general exchange. This has led up to the fruit now being packed being bought by the Earl Fruit Company, and the association is now turning its fruit over to the very people against whom the exchange has in the past directed its harshest words. in the Highland Exchange. WOMAN BADLY BURNED. SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 25.-Mrs Frank Donnatin was nearly burned to death at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Colton. She was burning brush in the back yard and her clothes caught fire. There was no one in the house, and she started to run to her neighbors. The wind fanned the flames until they spread over her legs and body, enwrapping them in one blaze of fire. Her frantic outcries called neighbors to her assistance, and her burning clothes were torn from her by friendly hands. Her legs, arms and body are badly burned, and she is suffering terribly. Dr. Hutchinson, who is attending her, expresses some hope of her recovery. Mrs. Donnatin is the daughter of Col. W. L. Burton, a lawyer of this city, and she was married but a few months ago.

LEO STEPHAN AGAIN IN COURT Leo Stephan, the saloon-keeper near Orange who has made so much trouble Orange who has made so much trouble by persisting in selling liquor without a license, was again before the bar of justice today, this time in the Superior Court of Orange County. Attorney McKelvey brought the case before Judge Towner on an appeal from the Justice Court at Orange, Dist. Atty. Ballard appearing for the state. The cause was argued, submitted and taken under advisement.

AN ALLEGED FORGERY.

A case of bold forgery came to light here today by which a smooth individual has fleeced the State Loan and Trust Company of Los Angeles out of $850. On February 11 a medium-sized man with long black mustache, and weighing about 160 pounds, wearing dark clothes and slouch hat, entered the Exchange Bank hmere and deposited $2.50. He asked for and received a certified check for the same. The check was then raised to $850, and a few days later deposited with the State Loan and Trust Company of Los Angeles, where it is deposited with the State Loan and Trust Company of Los Angeles, where it is presumed he had it cashed for the full amount. The check was sent here today, when it was detected as a forgery. Mr. Crookshank of the Exchange Bank says that the original wording and figures were both scratched entirely off the check, and that the amount was boldly raised from $2.50 to $850. Officers now have charge of the case.

ORANGE COUNTY REFUTIVES

ORANGE COUNTY BREVITIES.

A recent issue of the Orange Post says: "Will Gregg made a queer find yesterday morning on the Truman estate, north of East Chapman street. It seems that a Mexican who has been cutting wood in that vicinity, came along in the night under the influence of liquor, and fell into an old well, about thirty feet deep. When he came to his senses in the morning he thought he was in jail in very close quarters. He tried to attract attention by calling out; but for a long time the only effect it had was to make a big frog in one corner wink its eye at him. Finally he was heard and helped out, more or less battered and bruised from the fall. Gregg didn't know whether the strange sound or the strong breath of the Mexican made the frog wink; but it was probably a knowing wink that said: ORANGE COUNTY BREVITIES.

Orange Shipments—Excursion to Po mona—The City Bonds.

POMONA, Feb. 25.—(Regular Correspondence.) The increase in prices of oranges sold by the fruit exchanges this spondence.) The increase in prices of oranges sold by the fruit exchanges this week is a good indication of the fact that the eastern market for this fruit has improved in the past two weeks and demonstrates the wisdom of the officers in charge of the exchanges in this locality in withholding shipments of fruit as long as possible, until the frosted oranges and the half-ripe fruit which glutted the eastern markets in January and early February had been either thrown away or refused by an indignant public. The San Antonio Fruit Exchange, which includes Pomona Valley and Claremont, has sent about one-third of its orange production to market, and has from the first guaranteed each carload of its fruit to be free from any damage by frost, and first-class in every respect. Now that it does not have to compete with inferior and unwholesome oranges, it has started its shipments with renewed vigor. The fruit-dealers have reason to believe that April and May will be the best months for good orange prices this season.

POMONA CITY BONDS.

The bids for buying the Pomona city bonds to the amount of $15,000 will be opened here on next Monday, March 2. There is reason to believe the bids will offer a premium of $15,000 or $15,000 on the bonds, and many financiers think they ought to bring a premium of $18,000 or $20,000. The bonds will bear 6 per cent. interest, and are as secure as any ever issued in California. When city and village bonds in New York and New England, that bear but 4 and 5 per cent, interest are selling for large premiums, it is surely not too much to expect larger premiums from our 6 per cent. bonds. The Pomona city bonds are to be issued for the purchase of the Fleming & Becket domestic water system, and for conveying it to the city and then distributing it about the city for fire and household purposes.

READY FOR THE EXCURSION. POMONA CITY BONDS.

READY FOR THE EXCURSION. The committees of arrangements for the Pomona Board of Trade announce that they have made full and ample gements for the reception and en nment of the railroad excursion tertainment of the railroad excursion from Los Angeles and Pasadena to Pomona tomorrow (Wednesday) morning. The W. C. T. U. workers and the young ladies of the Christian Church will provide luncheon for the visitors at nominal expense. Deputations of young ladies from this place will go to Los Angeles and accompany the excursion to Pomona, and a company of men have provided for showing the visitors about town upon their arrival here. Every man or woman in this locality who has a wheeled conveyance has been asked to be in town at about noon tomorrow in order to take the excursionists out for journeys here and there about Pomona Valley. A programme of the events of the day has been printed and a copy of it will be given each person on the excursion between Los Angeles and this place. The Pomona Board of Trade has given a good deal of attention to preparing for this excursion, and there is no doubt it will be a decided success at this end of the route.

POMONA BREVITIES. There can be no denying that the farmers who grow grain, men who have horses and cattle to feed, and stock men, dairymen and ranchmen generally men, dairymen and ranchmen generally are pretty well alarmed at the continuation of the long season of drought. A week or ten days more of this weather and there will be this year the smallest crop of grain grown in Southern California of any year in fifteen or sixteen years. The roads are almost as hot and dusty as in July, the mountain streams are lower now than at as not and outry as in July, the mountain streams are lower now than at this particular period of the year in the memory of our oldest residents, and the owners of orchards that have their irrigation supply from those streams are not the most joyous people in the world just at present.

The Pomona College boys have placed the silver water set, which they won as a trophy at the intercollegiate ath-letic games in Los Angeles on Satur-day, in the hall at Holmes Hall. The boys have won this trophy four straigh times, and it is now the property o the students of Pomona College.

Fessler, which bid fair to end in a homicide. The two young fellows had a wordy argument over a certain article which appeared in the People's Advocate last Friday. The subject matter in the article was the actions of certain young ladies in town who for some time past have been engaged in very active flirtations with drummers, actors and men about town. The Advocate scored them very freely and wound up by making public the fact that City Editor McKenzle had some foolish love letters in his possession, which, if made public, would sertously cripple the reputation of the writers. As the allusions were very pointed and broadly stated, Fessler took exception to them and meeting McKenzle today gave him a severe tongue-lashing winding up by slapping him in the face, bringing blood and very cearly floring him. When McKenzle gathered himself together hemade for Fessler, clinching with him. When separated Fessler was found to be stabbed in the fleshy part of the right arm. The wound has the appearance of having been made with a pen knife, and extends to the bone through the biceps muscles. No arrests have been made, each of the combatants refusing to swear to a warrant, and the matter rests. Fessler had his arm dressed, and is now carrying the member in a sling. McKenzle has been here but a short time, coming here from Fresno. His style of journalism is crisp and more forcible than has been the rule in this community, which accounts for the fracas.

This makes 22,000 barrels of Ventura county oil shipped north this month. Very little of this output will be used for fuel. The major portion will go to the refinerics. As soon as outstanding STREET EXTENSION. A proposition is under consideration which contemplates the bringing of the Santa Fé and Southern Pacific passenger stations within easier reach of the business center of the town. The scheme includes the extension of Third street southeasterly from Railroad avenue across the property of Mrs. Savaira and the building of the new Southern Pacific station-house near Third street. This would render the station more readily accessible from town. If there were to be a Santa Fé station-house near the end of the company's tracks at Fourth street that depot also would be within easy reach of the business center by means of the Third-street.

Arbitration.

The congregation of the West End Congregational Church, of which Rev. George Morris is pastor, at special services held Sunday in honor of Washington's birthday, adopted resolutions declaring that England and the United States should agree by formal treaty to submit all differences incapable of settlement by diplomacy to arbitration, and that it would be wicked and abominable for either government to initiate war except when the other should ruthlessly oppress any people or flagrantly infringe upon their libertles. The resolutions were offered by C. A. Ensign.

A correspondent ridicules the claim that Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is a remedy for freckles. He thinks the following advertisement "absurd:" "Freedom from freckles and from all such disfigurements and blemishes, follows the use of the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. It clears and freshens the skin wonderfully—takes away that dull and mottled look that comes from stomach derangements. Besides being a purgative and an eliminative, the Sprudel is a decided alterative or blood purifier. It is the prescribed remedy, even in chronic and stubborn cases of eczema and such disorders.' I take the occasion to say concerning freckles and their treatment. Women who have suffered year after year from these annoying blemishes are wont to consider them due to the rays of the sun. Nothing can be more illogical. Yet from time to time physicians have ventured the same explanation. One authority on dermatology has declared that freckles are due to too much iron in the blood, and that the sun brings the iron-stained spots to the sur face much as they do to a bit of cloth which has come in contact with iron, and then is exposed to the sunlight. In other words, that freckles are iron rust, and that eradication may best be by a lotion. Now the real fact is that the sun does not produce freckles, and that all the topical treatment is useless. This may be proved from the fact that they rarely, if ever, appear in children under the age of six, even though they run in exposure to the bronzing influence of the sun all day. Again, they do not appear in many girls who are out-ofdoors most of the time, and do appear in others who work indoors and do not face the sun once a week.

It is not the sun or the air that causes them, but it is the disordered stomach, liver and kidneys. Wherever we find freckles we find such disorder. As the Carlsbad Sprudel Water or Salt restores these organs to health, so they remedy the freckles. Instead of being "ab-surd," no treatment could be more rational. W. H. MORSE, M.D., Oct. 4, 1895. Therapeutist

THE LANDMARKS CLUB.

Efforts to Save Southern California

Old Missions. The first open meeting of the Landmarks Club was held last evening at the Friday Morning Club rooms. The president, Charles F. Lummis, made few introductory remarks concerning the great value of the missions as monuments of art and architecture and the necessity of immediate action being taken to conserve them. Four of the seven missions in Southern California, within the field of the club, are very rapidly going into ruins and need prompt attention. Before the the end of this month carpenters will be at work at San Juan.

A large number of interesting stereoptican views of the missions in Southern California were shown, and Mrs. Margaret C. Graham read a charming paper written by Miss Anna C. Murphy, descriptive of the missions of San Juan Capistrano, San Luis Rey and San Fernando.

This club has been incorporated for the systematic and permanent preservation from vandalism and decay of the historic remins, monuments and landmarks of Southern California, chief of which are the seven venerable missions and their dependent chapels, from Santa Barbara on the north to San Diego on the south. The missions of the Southwest are the noblest and almost the only ruins in the United States. Architecturally they are as fine as many European ruins which are visited by thousands of tourists, and from the side of history and romance they are fully as interesting. They mark the first civilization of the Pacific Coast, more than a century ago, and are almost the only visible tokens left of that romantic and picturesque past. The earthquake of 1812 wrought great harm, but neglect and vandalsm have done far more. A few hundred dollars, promptly applied, will arrest this decay, and the income of a moderate fund will thereafter keep up necessary repairs. As the Mission San Juan Capistrano, which in combination of architectural value, need of repairs and accessibility, stands first, the club has secured a lease for ten years which will enable its plans to be carried out in the most satisfactory manner. The lease covers all the buildings in need or preservation, with the acres of ground, and includes a preference to the club as a purchaser of the property should it ever be for sale. All moneys received will go practically net to the work, as there are no salaries, no expenses of officers and almost no incidentals.

Mr. Lummis stated that the club had been very generously treated by those to whom it had applied for aid, and that since the incorporation last December over $250 had been raised. The newspapers in the East have bee cember over $250 had been raised. The newspapers in the East have been very kind in the way of notices, and through them have been sent a number of contributions. Several eastern publishers have also sent cash donations. The Southern California railroads have given the club half-rates on material to repair the missions.

At the close of the evening Mr. Lummis urged all those present who were not already members of the club to make themselves a part of it, and a number of new names were enrolled. The officers are as follows: President, Charles F. Lummis; vice-president, Margaret Collier Graham; secretary, Arthur B. Benton; treasurer, Frank A. Gibson, corresponding secre-

The "smoker" continued until a late hour of the evening, being voted unanimously a most enjoyable function.

W. H. Storms of the State Mining Bureau is in the city en route to the desert to secure data concerning mines. Mr. Storms says the work of the State mineralogists is sometimes hampered by the reticence of mine owners who refuse to give information because of fear that the State officers will use the knowledge thus obtained for the furtherance of private interests, Mr. Storms says this is a mistake, as the work of the bureau is performed unselfishly and for the good of the mining industry, generally. He asks the cooperation of all mine-owners in his search for facts concerning the mines of Southern California.

Oysters, music and oratory, and then dancing was the programme at the pleasant social affair held by the ladies of the Stanton W.R.C., at Elks' Hall, last evening. The gathering was well attended and a success in every way.

Supper was served by the ladles of the organization from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Then came a short programme. Miss Maude Low played a piano solo; Gen. A. B. Campbell delivered an address on Washington and Lincoln; Mr. Dearson gave a whistling solo with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Luther; there were remarks by Dr. Jarpenter, an original reading by Miss Taylor, and a piano solo by Miss Bessie Allen.

At the conclusion of the programme there was a pleasant dance. George there was a pleasant dance. George Flood acted as floor manager. Miss Nellie May rendered the music for the dancing.

Charged with Insanity.

Edward H. Linsenbaed, an aged German citizen, living at No. 734 West Sixteenth street, was arrested yesterday evening by Officers Huston and Arguello, on a warrant charging him with insanity. The old man owns about $30,000 worth of property and has a wife and three sons. Lately he has acted so queerly that it has been thought best to place him under restraint. His mania is of a religious nature. Complaint was made to the police and the District Attorney yesterday, and a warrant for his arrest was issued. He seldom left his house until after nightfall, and the officers foundhim yesterday evening taking a walk near his house. He was in his shirt sleeves, but consented to go with he officers when told that they wanted him. He was taken to the County Jail and locked up for the night. The old man appeared quite rational at the fail, but was highly indignant at what he termed his unwarrantable arrest. He threatened to sue the city for false imprisonment even though it should cost him every dollar he was worth. Linsenbaed is a native of Welmar, Germany, but came to America when only 12 years of age. He made his money in the mercantile business in Missouri.

Kuhnert and family, Chicago.

Charles H. Richardson made an interesting donation of oranges to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Mr. Richardson has a pretty little ranch on Moline avenue, Pasadena. There are only four acres in it, but from that little orchard the owner will this year gather 600 boxes of oranges. In the display of oranges Mr. Richardson contributed to the Chamber of Commerce permanent exhibit yesterday were Washington navels, Tangerines, Italian and Maltese blood oranges and Chinese mandarins,

The Washington navels in this display are the largest ever contributed to the Chamber of Commerce. It takes only forty-four of them to fill a box. There have been larger single oranges donated before, but never a lot which averaged such a size. These oranges weighed about twenty-four ounces aplece. The Home and Ranch Company made a display of canaigre D. W. Cunningham of the The Palms donated specimens of canaigre root and canaigre extract. Charles H. Richardson made an in-ting of the Great Sun Robe, Medic Drum, Bow and Arrow, Pipe, Autograph, Hair, etc.

These great relics were used by Sitting Bull and his warriors at the ghost dance in Dakota in 1890. The sun robe was laid upon the ground and Sitting Bull and his chiefs sat around it. The warriors danced around them in a large circle. The sun robe is a great piece of work. These articles are in our window. Every one should see them.
